INDIA SUPPORTS OIC RESOLUTION AT UNHRC AGAINST QURAN DESECRATION

The Geneva-based 47-member Council adopted the draft resolution with 28 countries voting in favour, 12 voting against and seven abstentions

CAUTIONS AGAINST RELIGIOUS HATRED

The resolution came in the wake of recent Quran burnings in Sweden. It called on countries to take steps to prevent acts of religious hatred. Those voting in favour of the resolution included Bangladesh, China, Cuba, Malaysia, Maldives, Pakistan, Qatar, Ukraine and UAE. Nations voting against the motion included Belgium, Finland, France, Germany, the UK and the US

DISSENTERS CITE FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION

- The draft resolution was brought by Pakistan on behalf of the States Members of the United Nations that are members of the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation as well as by the State of Palestine
- Western countries that voted against the resolution were worried that tougher steps by governments could trample freedom of expression

Costly veggies push up retail inflation

Centre to procure tomatoes from Andhra, Karnataka and Maharashtra, sell at discounted prices at co-op outlets

MONIKA YADAV AND JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

WITH vegetable prices soaring, retail inflation as measured by the Consumer Price Index rose to a three-month high of 4.81% in June, up from 4.31% in May and 4.7% in April.

According to government data released on Wednesday, the Consumer Food Price Index, which measures changes in the retail prices of food items, rose to 4.49% in June from 2.96% in May on account of high inflation in vegetables, pulses, meat and fish.

The data showed that vegetable inflation in June 2023 grew 12.2% over May, even though year-on-year prices saw a decline of 1%. Egg prices grew 5.5% in June while the rates of meat and fish rose 3.8%.

"Vegetables are some of the highly volatile components in India's CPI basket. Within that, prices of onion, garlic, tomato, potato, and ginger are the most unstable. Historical data suggest that price spikes in onion and ginger are not conditional upon seasonality and can occur all year round, however, that of tomato and potato are seasonal and usually spike during the summer-monsoon months of June-September," says Debopam Chaudhuri, chief economist, Piramal Enterprises.

To address the tomato problem, the Centre has decided to procure them from producing states and sell them at discounted prices in major cities from Friday. The Department of Consumer Affairs has directed the National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation and the National Cooperative Consumers Federation to procure the kitchen staple from Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka and Maharashtra for distribution in major consumption centres, where the retail prices have gone through the roof.

As tomato prices shot up to absurd levels, people have drastically cut down on its consumption, says a survey by community social media platform LocalCircles. As much as 75% of households chose to cut consumption while 7% have completely stopped buying tomatoes, notes the survey based on data from 311 districts.

IIP grows 5.2% in May

India's industrial production grew 5.2% in May, which is significantly lower than the year-ago growth of 19.7% but more than April's 4.2%. While the manufacturing sector's output grew 5.7%, the mining sector expanded 6.4%

Dassault's Rafale JV with Ambani may end

SHAHID FARIDI @ New Delhi

THE Indo-French joint venture (JV) between Dassault Aviation and Anil Ambani-owned Reliance Aerostructure Ltd is likely to be dissolved as the French company has reportedly decided to pull out of the JV — Dassault Reliance Aerostructure Ltd (DRAL).

Sources said Dassault has taken the decision due to Ambani's "inability to make the investment required to keep the joint venture going". Ambani is the major partner in the 51-49 JV.

The two companies had entered into the joint venture to handle the offset obligations arising out of India's $7.6 billion deal to buy 36 Rafale fighter jets. The JV was formed in 2017. With Prime Minister Narendra Modi scheduled to visit France to be the guest of honour on Bastille Day on July 14, where he is likely to announce another multi-billion dollar deal to buy 26 Rafale Marine fighters, Dassault has started looking for a new Indian partner to execute its present and future offset obligations.

DRAL, having its production facility at a 62-acre plot in the MIHAAN Special Economic Zone in Nagpur, is currently engaged in the assembly of Rafale components, including engine doors, rudder, elevons, windshield, canopy, etc.

Sources said the fate of Reliance Aerostructure's tie-up with another French company, Thales, is not yet clear. Ambani's company has another 51-49 JV with Thales — Thales Reliance Defence Systems (TRDS) — in which Reliance is a major partner. TRDS is said to be the most advanced Thales facility outside France. This, too, operates out of MIHAAN and produces Rafale components.

The Centre had introduced a defence offset policy in 2005 which requires all foreign vendors to invest a part of the contract value in India so as to help domestic defence companies grow and facilitate the transfer of technology, besides generating employment.

Firms defaulting on offset obligations

A large number of top foreign defence companies have defaulted on their offset obligations. Repeated requests by the defence ministry to these vendors to fulfil their obligations have fallen on deaf ears

EU House to debate Manipur, India cross

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA on Wednesday raised objections to the European Parliament's decision to debate a resolution of the ethnic violence in Manipur, during its ongoing plenary session in Strasbourg.

"We made a reach-out to the concerned EU parliamentarians. But we made it very clear that this is a matter absolutely internal to India," Foreign Secretary Vinay Mohan Kwatra said at a press conference.

The Manipur matter has been scheduled for discussion for the latter half of the day, under the "Debates on cases of breaches of human rights, democracy and the Rule of Law."

A motion for a resolution was tabled in the EU Parliament by six groups, which range from the Left, European Socialists and Greens to regionalist parties, Conservatives and centre-right political and Christian groups.

The foreign office refrained from commenting whether India has hired a European lobbying firm to counter the debate. A Brussels-based firm, Alber and Geiger, is said to have been engaged by India, but there is no confirmation on this.

Over 140 people have been killed in the violence so far.

North struggles, record Yamuna swelling in Delhi

HARPREET BAJWA & NARENDRA SETHI @ Chandigarh/Dehradun

THE situation in the rain-ravaged Uttarakhand, Punjab and Haryana continued to remain grim on Wednesday, while the swollen Yamuna in downstream Delhi hit an all-time high of 208.05 metres, inundating several low-lying areas in the national capital.

Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal urged Union home minister Amit Shah to reduce the outflow from Haryana's Hathni Kund barrage into the Yamuna to prevent further flooding.

In Uttarakhand, the embankment of the Solani river got breached at two places due to incessant rains, flooding 24 villages. The Gangotri and Yamunotri highways were among the 1,500-plus roads that have been closed due to landslides and rain-related damages. Pilgrims are waiting for the highways to open for their safe exit. There were also reports of a car with four persons on board skidding into the Khoh river.

In Punjab, 1,058 of its villages in 14 districts have been affected by the flood fury, with Roopnagar district taking the biggest hit. While around 10,000 people have been shifted to safer places in Punjab, 49 houses have been completely destroyed and 180 other houses partially damaged. As for Haryana, its seven districts have been affected. The toll due to rain-related incidents in Punjab and Haryana has gone up to 21.

In Himachal Pradesh, 3,000 tourists stranded in Kasol area of Kullu district have been evacuated. Fifty-two students of a school in Kullu, who were stuck at Sissu in Lahaul, too, were safely moved out. That apart, about 25,000 people stranded in Manali and Kullu since the past three days at various locations have been rescued.

But 293 others, including 243 tourists, are still stuck at the glacial Chandratal Lake in Lahaul and Spiti district because of bad weather.

Twists, turns in B'luru double-murder, 3 held

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

POLICE arrested three persons, including the main accused, Felix alias Joker Felix, at Kunigal in Tumakuru district on Wednesday in connection with the murder of the MD and CEO of a company providing internet services in the city on Tuesday.

While P Shabarish alias Felix alias Joker Felix (27) hails from Devarachikkanahalli on Bannerghatta Road, the other accused have been identified as V Vinay Reddy (23) of Roopena Agrahara and S Santosh alias Santhu (26) of Marenahalli.

Meanwhile, the investigation of the case has taken several twists and turns with the accused giving conflicting statements during their interrogation.

Initially, it was suspected that business rivalry between the victims and Felix was the reason for the double-murder. The police are probing the involvement of the owner of another company providing broadband and ISP services on Bannerghatta Road where the two victims and Felix were working.

Left: Main accused 'Joker' Felix and his associates were arrested on Wednesday

The latest twist to the case is the fight over a woman colleague between one of the victims and Felix. The woman working with the firm on Bannerghatta Road is said to be close to Felix. Subramanyam, one of the victims, who was working at the firm on Bannerghatta Road, was getting closer to the woman after divorcing his wife. It is also alleged that he had fired Felix in order to keep him away from her.

Meanwhile, the police picked up the owner of the firm on Bannerghatta Road on Wednesday for interrogation. After the double-murder, Felix made several calls to him. He was picked up from Kempegowda International Airport. CONTINUED ON: P3

6 convicted for chopping prof's hand in Kerala

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

A special NIA court here on Wednesday found six persons associated with the proscribed radical Islamic outfit, the Popular Front of India (PFI), guilty in the 2010 case over the gruesome attack on Prof T J Joseph, in which his right hand was chopped off. Five others were acquitted. Judge Anil K Bhaskar will announce the quantum of sentence at 3 pm on Thursday.

This was the second-phase trial in the case involving 11 accused who were arrested after 2015, when the first phase concluded. The same court convicted 13 and exonerated 18 in the initial trial.

Those convicted on Wednesday are Sajil, M K Nasar, Najeeb K A, M K Noushad, P P Moideen and P M Ayoob.

The court exonerated Shafeeq, Azeez Odakkali, Mohammad Rafi, Subair T P and Mansoor saying the prosecution failed to prove their involvement in the case.

The first accused, Savad, is absconding even after 13 years of the gruesome incident. The NIA has announced a ₹10 lakh bounty for his arrest.

On July 4, 2010, Prof Joseph of Newman College, Thodupuzha, and his family were brutally attacked near their house in Muvattupuzha by a seven-member gang. The attackers, who alleged a question paper prepared by the professor had insulted the Prophet, chopped off his right hand with an axe.

Chain-snatcher's bid puts woman's life in danger

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

A chain-snatcher's attempt at pulling a necklace from a 55-year-old woman almost claimed her life when she fell off the bike she was riding pillion with her husband in the city on Sunday. The victim, Malar, sustained severe facial injuries, a fractured hand and lost a few teeth when she fell on the road. Her 58-year-old businessman husband, GM Velumani, suffered minor bruises.

The incident occurred on the service road of Banaswadi Main Road near KIA showroom between 8.50 pm and 8.55 pm. They were returning home at Rajanna Layout in Horamavu from HSR Layout after performing rituals for Malar's mother, who died last month.

According to Velumani, they would not have bothered had the chain-snatcher escaped with the necklace which is only gold coated. What has become a cause for worry is the damage caused to Malar.

"Due to the traffic jam on Banaswadi Main Road, we took the service road. The accused, who was following us, came from the left side and tried to snatch my wife's necklace," Velumani told TNIE. P5

No road, no Anna Bhagya for tribals of MM Hills

K SHIVA KUMAR @ Mysuru

BENEFITS of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's ambitious Anna Bhagya scheme are not reaching the tribal families living at Nagamale and nearby villages in Male Mahadeshwara Hills because of poor road connectivity.

The only road (10 km) from Pudur to Nagamale has not been asphalted and is in a pathetic condition. Because of this, truck drivers refuse to move foodgrains and other items under various government schemes to Nagamale and nearby villages.

Around 50 families are depending on locally available foodgrains for their survival. Till recently, mules were used to reach foodgrains and other commodities to villages in Male Mahadeshwara Hills. But this mode of transport is not available now as mule owners have stopped rearing them because of the rising costs.

Chandru, a resident, said they are not getting foodgrains every month. They now reach them once in four months because of poor transport facilities.

Many families at Padasulanatha village atop MM Hills trek to Palar on Karnataka-Tamil Nadu border to get foodgrains. Though the government has provided vehicles, they don't go to villages atop the hills. The villagers blame the Forest Department for the pathetic condition of the only road to their villages. The department is not allowing the local authorities to asphalt the road as it comes under MM Hills Wildlife Sanctuary.

With no transport, residents have to carry groceries to their villages

Raja, a villager, said many families have given up hopes of enjoying the benefits of Anna Baghya. Siddaramaiah, who is the chairman of Male Mahadeshwara Development Authority, should soon convene a meeting to address the problems faced by them.

PDS dealer Mani said that he could not deliver foodgrains to villages in MM Hills on time because of the bad road. Moreover, his pending transport dues have not been cleared.

Deputy Director of Food and Civil Supplies Yogananda said the PDS supplier should make arrangements to hire vehicles to take grains to beneficiaries. He has sought reports from food inspectors in this regard.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath interacts with staffers at an Indira Canteen on Wednesday

Girinath visits Indira Canteens, leaves upset

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath on Wednesday inspected the Indira Canteen at Ballari Main Road in Hebbal and one in V Nagenahalli ward. East Zone Commissioner was not satisfied with the maintenance as bulbs, which were not functioning.

Girinath told the press after the inspection, that the food menu in Indira Canteens will change soon and different snacks and meals will be arranged daily. He suggested to the Zonal Joint Commissioner to assign marshals to Indira Canteens who should also be given responsibilities.

It was during a visit to an Indira Canteen on Ballari Road of Hebbal that a ward in the Eastern Zone, it came to light that the bulb was not functioning and asked the officials concerned to get it repaired. This apart, he directed officials to repair the hand wash water system and the clean drinking water unit as well.

With requests from the public for keeping toilets near public canteens open during canteen hours, the commissioners are to keep the toilets open for the public.

On this occasion, zonal joint commissioner Pallavi, engineer-in-chief BS Prahlad, Zonal Chief Engineer Suguna and other concerned officials were present.

'Project won't have any issues with water pipes, cables as roads will be below 80ft'

Experts: B'luru can have tunnel roads

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

WITH the proposal for tunnel roads gaining more attention, especially after Maharashtra taking up Mumbai Coast Tunnel Road project, a BMRCL official said Namma Bengaluru can also have a similar project although it has loose earth and hard rock surface.

The official, who worked on the tunnel project of Metro Rail Phase 1, however, stressed the need for a detailed study before taking up the tunnel road project. The project will not have any issues with water pipelines and cables as they have been laid at a depth of not more than three metres, whereas the tunnel road will run below 80 feet.

"When we started work on Phase 1 of the underground Metro tunnel project, we found it hard in a few places due to the presence of rocks. In some places, drilling was easy because of the loose soil. Based on these experiences, we managed well while implementing Phase 2 of the project in places such as City Market, Chickpet and Majestic. Had we not done grouting (cementing the soil and filling the surroundings with hard material) at a few places, the progress in tunneling work would not have been possible," said an expert familiar with BMRCL Metro tunnels.

The expert said, "For any civic project, acquiring private property or closing a busy road is a big issue. However, there is little scope for this in projects such as tunnel roads."

Asked if water pipelines, pile foundations of huge buildings and Metro network's tunnels pose any hurdle while drilling, the official said, "No, not at all."

Tunnels will be drilled only after a thorough study and survey. The alignment of tunnels will be perfect as they will not have any issues underground, he said.

Indian Road Congress Member D Prasad expressed similar views and said the layer study of earth will help in planning the alignment of tunnel roads. "The authorities should take aspects such as tunnel phobia into consideration and design the tunnels accordingly," he said.

Drive to reclaim lost govt land on cards

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

REVENUE Minister Krishna Byre Gowda informed the Karnataka Legislative Council that they will take up a drive to clear encroachments of government land.

Responding to BJP legislator YA Narayanswamy's question on measures to be taken to clear encroachments of government lands in Bengaluru Urban and Bengaluru Rural districts, the minister said the state government will take up a drive and set a target for officials to decide on cases of encroachments.

The minister also said like the police department, they are thinking of introducing a beat system so that officials will monitor the status of land cleared of encroachment so that it is not encroached on again. "We will put in place a system to save government lands," Byre Gowda said.

On the question of whether there is a need for tougher laws to deal with the problem, the minister said it is enough if the existing laws are enforced efficiently.

In the written response provided to the member's question, the minister stated that in Bengaluru Urban, 38,947 acres of government land were encroached in 14,660 cases, and 3,898 acres were recovered in 1,292 cases. In Bengaluru Rural, 3,898 acres of land were encroached in 1,292 cases, and 3,249 acres were recovered in 376 cases.

Narayanswamy said the value of 38,947 acres of encroached government land is worth over Rs 1.5 lakh crore. He expressed concern over the involvement of officials.

NO PROPOSAL TO INCREASE STAMP DUTY

The revenue minister said there is no proposal before the state government to increase the stamp duty, but it will increase the guidance value as announced in the state budget. The minister said they are thinking of bringing in a rotation policy and moving sub-registrars posted in Bengaluru for many years to different places. Seven to eight sub-registrars in Bengaluru have already moved out and officers from different towns are posted in the state capital, he said.

MINISTER SAYS GOVT TAKING STEPS TO CONDUCT KSET SOON

DONNA EVA @Bengaluru

HIGHER Education Minister Dr M C Sudhakar said the Karnataka State Eligibility Test (KSET) will soon take place under the Karnataka Examination Authority (KEA). This year, KSET will be conducted under KEA for the first time.

The government is taking steps to conduct the test as quickly as possible so as not to inconvenience interested candidates as well as students.

Meanwhile, KEA Executive Director S Ramya told TNIE that the authority was still awaiting approval from the University Grants Commission (UGC) to conduct the test. "We had initially planned on conducting the test in August. However, we are still awaiting approval from UGC to go ahead. So, it is more likely that it may take place in September," she said.

The state equivalent of the National Eligibility Test (NET), the KCET, is conducted every year as part of requirement to become an assistant professor, with examinations conducted for 42 subjects. While the test was routinely conducted by the University of Mysore, it has been shifted to KEA amid allegations of corruption. With approval from UGC, the university was the sole nodal agency in the state to conduct the test.

Asst profs call off protest after minister's promise

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

ASSISTANT professors on Wednesday called off their protest after Higher Education Minister Dr M C Sudhakar met them and promised to provide them jobs. The assistant professors had been protesting for several days, stating that they were left unemployed after they wrote the eligibility examinations as no recruitment orders were issued afterwards.

The examinations took place in March 2022. However, following leak of the geography paper ahead of the examinations, an investigation was launched and arrests were made. As investigations are technically ongoing, the process of recruitment was halted.

The examination was conducted for recruitment of 1,242 assistant professors for government first grade degree colleges. However, as no recruitment orders were issued, all selected candidates are left jobless. Due to this, the candidates took to protesting at Freedom Park, coming from all corners of the state.

Visiting the protest venue, Sudhakar assured them that the issue will be resolved soon. "You have waited two years. Your problems will be solved. A decision will be taken tomorrow (Thursday). The case pertains to only one subject and action has already been taken against the guilty. However, a final report has not been given rendering the investigation closed. We will ensure that a report is given on this," he said.

Metro safety inspection after Aug 20

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

BANGALORE Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) has finalised the document to be submitted to the Commissioner for Metro Rail Safety (CMRS) for the Baiyappanahalli-KR Puram stretch of the Purple Line. The commissioner will invited to carry out the inspection anytime after August 20, said Metro sources. The latest deadline given for the commercial launch of the 2.5-km line is slated for commercial operations by August-end.

A senior Metro official said, "The Open Document will be submitted to CMRS on Thursday or Friday. We are looking at the inspection being carried out any day after August 20."

Asked about the present status of the line, another official said traction works have been completed. "Signalling works are in progress. Rolling stock trials (train trial runs) will be carried out from July 20 onward. An independent safety assessor, a private agency, will also be brought in to assess the safety aspects of the stretch. All works will be completed anytime between August 15 and 20."

The incomplete Jyotipura station was one of the reasons the launch of this stretch was put off by a month. Asked about it, another official said, "Glazing and external finishing works are still going on. By this July-end, everything will be in place."

A source said electrical charging of the line will be done from July 20.

BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez said, "We are on target to launch the line by August-end."

When launched, the East-West Line will run to 43.49 km.

36 yrs ago, flight with 69 passengers landed at HAL runway in similar fashion

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

A private aircraft landing at HAL Airport with its nose gear up on Tuesday was almost a repeat of a similar mishap on the same runway involving an Indian Airlines aircraft 36 years ago. Captain Mohan Ranganthan, in the cockpit then, made a successful landing of the plane carrying 69 passengers, including former Minister Raghupathi, from Chennai to Bengaluru.

Capt Ranganathan, an aviation safety expert, relived his experience of flying IC 513. "It was the first morning flight on November 1, 1987. Captain Elias and I were flying the VT-EDS. When we had an issue during landing, we just followed the rule book," he told TNIE.

"When we came on to the finals and took the gear down, I had red on the nose gear and I knew it was not locking down. So we recyled and still it remained red. Then I made a low pass over the control tower to ask if they can see my landing gear. They confirmed that they could see it, which means the gear is out but it is not locking. Then I told the cabin crew to prepare for emergency landing."

When the ATC asked if the runway needed to be covered with foam, he shot down the idea. "Foaming is not a recommended thing. I landed on the main wheel and held up the nose as long as I could. Because I used the Runway 27 on the HAL, I wanted to bring the nose down almost up to the hump so that the impact would be very less. My speed had reduced to 65 knots too." All passengers were evacuated after landing.

The Directorate General of Civil Aviation staff identified a crack in the Nose Gear Actuator.

Asked about Tuesday's incident, he said, "They should not have foamed the runway. Crash tenders of the rescue fire service vehicles have limited quantity of foam. So if you use it up for the runway and if the aircraft had caught fire, water alone couldn't have doused it." The pilot also touched down very late, he opined. "If he had landed exactly at the 1,000-foot marker, he would have stopped on the upsloping portion of the runway which would have assisted in slowing down the aircraft much more."

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

13th July : It's the end of one year and the beginning of another. In my opinion today is always a time to take stock, look back to the past and plan for the coming days. The ancients had this in mind when they allocated endings to Saturn, the planet which draws all things to a close prior to their rebirth. More than that, it's a moment for considering new possibilities, however strange they may be at first sight.

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Please don't worry if a professional matter now comes to a grinding halt. There are a great many developments yet to take place, and in this light a temporary delay is of little consequence. Mars, your planetary ruler, is still in an emotional state, and you may feel justified in blowing up, but make sure you hit the right target.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Go over all bills and demands for payment with a fine toothcomb. The reason is simple: at a time when the planets are indicating increased earnings, they may also cause extravagance and waste. You're still in a romantic mood, so if you want to wallow in sentimentality, go ahead - and don't let anyone put you off.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Venus and Jupiter combine so benevolently that you may count on negotiations or transactions being finalised on time. Such is the helpful nature of the current moment that you may also assume that the results will be in your favour. Partners should back you to the hilt, but only if you do the necessary persuading.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
The world is in a state of flux and one particular tie or association is now being put to the test. It is not easy to know what to do for the best and you may wish to wait and respond to other people's initiatives. You should have made up your mind by the end of tomorrow.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The answer to a current personal situation is well within your grasp. However, any optimism needs to be qualified by the recognition that other people may not share your perspective. You may be prepared for a possible reversal, only to be surprised by a sudden breakthrough.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
On the surface everything appears to be relatively straightforward. Yet the most perceptive among you are aware that intense and turbulent passions are boiling away below the surface. Happily, the Moon's transit through your chart increases your chances of worldly success.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Your planets will be beneficial, benevolent and thoroughly enjoyable. We may look beyond light-hearted forecasts of pleasure and fun, and say one more thing about the current planetary line-up: you are being called to recognise the deeply spiritual realities which underpin your life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Today's surprising planetary configuration could produce some startling headlines. Whether you are personally drawn into confrontations and conflicts depends on your level of self-understanding and self-discipline. You seem to be well on the way to a new conquest, perhaps a romantic one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Partners are bound to be more than a little blunt. Rude, some would call it! Yet you can take the odd rebuke or criticism in good part and accept that you may be partially responsible for whatever is now taking place. The only problem is that you still don't really understand what is making particular individuals so agitated.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
It's a fact that someone close to you has been hurt recently, even if unintentionally. It is now in your interests to come up with a plan to restore goodwill. If you can work out a formula to put harmonious relationships on a long-term basis and protect your own interests, so much the better.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You may now feel even more like a square peg in a round hole, and your discomfort may be aggravated by people who are alternately reckless, impatient and unwilling to offer any concession or compromise. In love, take it easy, play it cool and wait for suitors and partners to make the first move.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The Sun is positioning you very subtly for your next big adventure. You should no longer care what people think or say. The problem is that colleagues are coming out with so many shocking statements that you must eventually close yourself off and get on with your own life.

3 KILLED IN TWO SEPARATE ACCIDENTS IN CITY

BENGALURU: Three persons died in two separate road accidents in the city. In the first case, two friends — Chandan, 21, and Mohan, 22 — residents of Anjananagar, were partying with their friends on Tuesday. At around midnight, the duo went out to get some food on a two-wheeler. The rider rammed the bike into the median on Magadi Road. The duo, who sustained serious injuries, were rushed to a hospital where they were declared brought dead. According to the police, the two deceased were not wearing helmets. The Kamakshipalya traffic police has registered a case. In another accident in Whitefield, a 30-year-old security guard from Nepal died in a hit and run case. The victim was going on a cycle when an unidentified two-wheeler hit the cycle. The deceased has been identified as Raj Katar. He was working as a security guard at a residential apartment complex in Whitefield. He was residing in Bellathur. On Tuesday at around 6.30 pm, when he was going on his cycle on Hosakote Road, an unidentified vehicle hit his cycle. The victim, after getting treatment, had returned home. Around midnight, he again visited the hospital due to unbearable pain. During the treatment, he is said to have died. ENS

Double murder accused 'Felix' imitated the Joker

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

THE main accused in the double murder case in Bengaluru, Shabarish alias Felix (27), was working for the fourth accused in his broadband company Gnet Broadband for 12 years.

A reported primary school dropout, Shabarish is a self-proclaimed Kannada rapper and model, and had "assumed the moniker Joker as his stage name", said sources. His Instagram profile, with the name joker_felix_rapper_, has over 16,600 followers. He also has a YouTube channel called JK Media, with close to 9,000 subscribers.

In many of his social media posts, Shabarish has mimicked the legendary actor Heath Andrew Ledger in his critically acclaimed role as the psychopathic clown prince of crime — the Joker — in the film 'The Dark Knight' (2008). According to sources, he had gone to Kashi to expand Gnet Broadband business, and has since been seen with sacred ash (vibhuti) on his heavily tattooed face and body. He had also reportedly created a Kannada rap song 'Nan Shiva' on YouTube, posing on a boat in the Ganga in Varanasi.

Soon after allegedly committing the double murder, he posted on his Instagram page a regional TV news clipping of the twin murders of MD Phanindra Subramanya and CEO Vinu Kumar of Aironics Media Private Limited, in which he is the prime accused. He and the other two co-accused — Vinay Reddy (23) and Santosh alias Santhu (26) — had allegedly "hacked the two to death with a billhook knife meant to cut coconuts", said sources.

Hours before he committed the cold-blooded murders in broad daylight in Amruthahalli, Shabarish had posted on his Instagram page, "Peoples always flatters and cheaters. So I hurt this planet peoples. I hurt only bad peoples. I never hurt any good people (sic)" in a manner which was a poor imitation of the Joker. "He is impulsive, inconsistent and doesn't express much. He is not remorseful about his crime. Those who know Shabarish claimed that he is a ganja addict," sources added.

"Some years ago, he was allegedly stalking a girl in his office and Subramanya had asked him to stay away from her. He may have borne a grudge against him since then," said sources. He is originally from Shivamogga, but has not visited the district for some time. He had recently got married.

Cops probing biz rivalry angle

SUBRAMANYAM and Vinu Kumar, the victims, were earlier working with the firm on Bannerghatta Road. They later quit the firm and opened Aironics Media Private Limited at Amruthahalli.

Police are investigating if there was any business rivalry between the owner of the firm on Bannerghatta Road and the two victims. During the investigation, it was learnt that Subramanyam used to force the former woman colleague to join his firm, which angered Felix.

"The police are investigating if the broadband firm's owner has any role in the case. However, he has not been arrested. As of now, three persons have been arrested. We are probing all angles. The fight between one of the victims and the main accused over the woman is also being investigated. It is too early to come to any conclusion," Raman Gupta, Additional Commissioner of Police (East), told The New Indian Express.

Woman objects to BMTC conductor wearing skull cap

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A video of a Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) bus conductor confronted by a woman passenger for wearing a skull cap during work hours has gone viral on social media. The unknown woman, who seems to have shot the 1 minute 37 second video, questions the bus conductor if he is aware of the uniform rules and if wearing a skull cap is allowed.

The conductor, who was on duty, replies with a smile saying, "I think it is allowed". The woman then goes on to tell the conductor that he can follow his 'dharma' and wear the skull cap at home and mosques and nobody would object. But as a government employee, he is not supposed to wear the cap while on duty.

When the conductor tells the woman that he has been wearing the skull cap for many years and no one had objected to it before, she explains that as per law, he cannot wear the skull cap.

The conductor tells the woman that he will bring this to the notice of his senior officers and check if wearing a skull cap is allowed or not. The woman replies that she is recording the video so that it reaches BMTC MD Sathyavati.

"A rule is a rule and it is applicable to all. According to you, wearing a skull cap is allowed or not? If you are not sure of the law, remove it (skull cap)," the woman tells the conductor, who at last is seen removing his green-coloured skull cap and putting it in his pocket.

The undated video has now sparked a debate in favour and against both the bus conductor and the woman. Some users termed the woman 'communal' and appreciated the conductor for remaining calm, while others accused him of not following the law.

While the bus corporation did not bother to share any reaction to this incident, BMTC sources said that as per the bus corporation's 'uniform code', employees are not permitted to wear religious skull caps or saffron shawls during duty hours. The source recalled that a similar incident happened last year, when a section of Hindu employees of BMTC objected to Muslim drivers, conductors and staff wearing skull caps. In protest, they had worn saffron shawls.

Bengaluru police who have taken note of the video have sought more details.

A rule is a rule and it is applicable to all. According to you, wearing a skull cap is allowed or not? If you are not sure of the law, remove it (skull cap)

The woman passenger is heard telling the conductor in the video

HOME MIN DEFENDS COPS SERVING NOTICE TO PRO-HINDU ACTIVIST

Organiser has criminal past; no need to take prior permission for pujas, says Parameshwara

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HOME Minister G Parameshwara on Wednesday defended police serving a notice to a pro-Hindu activist over inviting people for a religious event at a place of worship on government land. He was responding to BJP's charge that the move had hurt the sentiments of Hindus. The opposition party was also demanding action against the police officer.

Questioning the police notice served to Punith Kerehalli, a pro-Hindu activist, for organising a religious programme, BJP members staged a protest in the well of the Council. Their demand for an immediate response from the government led to pandemonium in the House, forcing adjournment of the proceedings for some time. While BJP members alleged that police action had hurt the sentiments of Hindus, Parameshwara told them that the notice was issued considering the antecedents of the organiser.

BJP MLC YA Narayanaswamy raised the issue during zero hour and said a 'Nagarakatte' in Tulasi Vana in Upparpet was in a dilapidated condition and Kerehalli had restored it. In this connection, he had organised a 'pooja' and invited people through social media to attend it. "The Upparpet police inspector slapped a notice on Punith Kerehalli, asking him to take permission from the BBMP to hold the event. It's an ancient Nagarakatte and the attitude of the police has hurt Hindus. The notice should be withdrawn and action should be initiated against the police inspector," Narayanaswamy said.

Other BJP members joined him and said the government should immediately reply as it is a sensitive issue. They unanimously condemned the police action. Council Chairman Basavaraj Horatti said the issue was raised in the zero hour and the government needs to be given time to give its response. But BJP members were firm that they needed an immediate response.

Minister Krishna Byregowda intervened and said the rules say that the reply to issues raised during zero hour must be provided within two days and BJP members are making a big issue out of it as they intend to disrupt the Council proceedings. This led to a heated argument between Congress and BJP members with the latter entering the well of the House to protest. As there was no order in the House, the chairman adjourned the proceedings for some time.

Parameshwara later informed the Council that the police issued the notice on July 9 asking Kerehalli whether he had taken permission from the competent authority to organise the programme. "Kerehalli has 10 criminal cases against him, including a murder, and he is currently out on bail. The notice was issued considering his antecedents. This doesn't hurt religious sentiments and there is no need to take police permission to hold religious events," the minister clarified. BJP MLC Kota Shrinivasa Poojary said the government should ensure that such incidents won't repeat.

Heated debate over LoP; Appoint HDK, quips Savadi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Assembly on Wednesday witnessed a heated discussion on the issue of the Leader of the Opposition (LoP) as the principal Opposition party — BJP — is yet to announce the LoP.

Raising the issue, Chamundeshwari JDS MLA GT Devegowda said, "Nobody knows why BS Yediyurappa was asked to step down as the CM... None of us know the reason... only leaders in Delhi (BJP top brass) will be aware of it. BJP is also yet to appoint LoP even after two months." Taking the name of former deputy CM Laxman Savadi, who quit the BJP to join the Congress ahead of the May 10 Assembly elections, Devegowda said, "If he (Savadi) knows why there is no LoP, he should tell."

Savadi said that he has many friends (in BJP) in Delhi and told Devegowda to wait and watch. "Who knows, they might appoint HD Kumaraswamy as the Leader of the Opposition. He will be LoP on deputation to BJP. The LoP seat is vacant and he may be moved there," the former CM quipped.

Meanwhile, Siddaramaiah also took a dig at Vijayapura City MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal over the issue of LoP. When Kumaraswamy was speaking about Anna Bhagya and Gruha Jyothi schemes, Yatnal frequently got up and intervened. Siddaramiah told Yatnal not to get up frequently. "I know why you get up from your seat frequently. You want to get recognised from your party leaders as you are an aspirant for the LoP post. But don't worry, I have information that you are not going to get this post," Siddaramaiah said.

Yatnal hit back at Siddaramaiah saying that whatever the latter says never happens. "Siddaramiah said Kumaraswamy can never become the CM. But he became CM in 2018. You are saying that I will not become LoP... but I will become," the senior BJP legislator added.

HDK releases 'rate card' for transfers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SENIOR Janata Dal (Secular) leader and former chief minister HD Kumaraswamy, who had claimed that he has details of cash for transfer in a pen drive and said he would make it public at an appropriate time, in the Assembly on Wednesday released a "rate card' for transfers in a department, saying his sources had furnished him the details.

"I will give the evidence to the chief minister through the Speaker and it is up to them to rectify the mistakes in the government or let it go," he said.

"Transfer rates are fixed in all departments and people have been talking about it on the streets. I have in my hand the transfer price list fixed in some department. Someone gave me the details," he claimed.

There was a furore over the issue with BJP leaders Dr CN Ashwath Narayana and R Ashoka getting into an argument with RDPR Minister Priyank Kharge.

CBI probe

Kumaraswamy raised the issue of purchase of solar power at an expensive rate of Rs 9.60 per unit during the previous Congress government (2013-2018). "The contract is for 25 years and if you ask the DCM about this, you will get to know. I spoke about this in 2018, after which a House committee was formed. The CBI investigation will establish the truth," he said.

He asked as to why the then government went for a higher price even when electricity was available at a lower rate.

NEVER DID 'ADJUSTMENT POLITICS': SIDDU

Reiterating that he has never indulged in "adjustment politics" in his entire political career, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah told the Assembly on Wednesday that, if someone proves that he has done so, he would resign as CM immediately. During a heated debate with Vijayapura City BJP MLA Basanagouda Patil Yatnal, Siddaramaiah said, "I started my political career by entering the Assembly in 1983. I have not done any kind of adjustment politics in the last 40 years. There is no need for me to do it. Even when I became the CM or the Leader of Opposition, I did not do adjustment politics."

Govt will free state from drug menace: Dr G

ENS @ Bengaluru

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Wednesday clarified that the Congress government in the state has set an agenda to free Karnataka from the menace of drugs and the police officers in every region have been sensitised in this regard.

Replying to former minister Basavaraja Rayareddy in the Assembly who had alleged that the drug mafia was active in Anegundi and Hampi, for which Gangavathi MLA Gali Janardhana Reddy raised objection, Parameshwara clarified that the issue of drug menace was not restricted to a particular region. "It is an issue of the state and the country. We have been putting all efforts and recently I have asked the Mangaluru police commissioner to get the city free from drug menace," he said.

He claimed to have held deliberations with chief minister Siddaramaiah as well. "We will never let the state and Bengaluru be defamed as it happened in the case of Punjab," he said.

Rayareddy and Gali Janardhana Reddy had a verbal duel in the House with the former alleging that drugs and prostitution has been rampant in the Ganagathi region. But Reddy suggested Rayareddy not to single out the region as there was not even a single case registered since two months after he became the MLA and new government took over.

BJP delegation meets Guv, urges him to direct govt to maintain law & order

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

OPPOSITION BJP legislators on Wednesday appealed to Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot to issue appropriate directives to the State Government to maintain law and order situation in Karnataka.

Speaking to media persons after the BJP delegation submitted a memorandum to the Governor, former chief minister Basavaraj Bommai said the law and order situation has deteriorated and it is a "jungle raj" in the state. The BJP leaders staged a protest near the Mahatma Gandhi statue and took out a padayatra to Raj Bhavan.

The government has taken the murder of the Jain monk lightly and rejected the BJP's demand for a CBI probe, Bommai said.

"We have appealed to the Governor to summon Chief Secretary and DG&IGP and issue directives to maintain law and order and issue directives to refer the case to CBI. We have also appealed to the Governor to send a report to the Centre about the law and order situation in Karnataka," he said.

The former CM said that the Governor informed them that he would get details from the Chief Secretary and DG&IGP and give them appropriate directives.

In their petition to the Governor, the BJP leaders stated there is a total failure on the part of the State Government to maintain the law and order situation and if the same situation continues, the common citizen's life is put at risk.

HDK reads out TNIE report on Anna Bhagya

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

SENIOR JDS leader HD Kumaraswamy on Wednesday in the Assembly cited The New Indian Express report on giving cash to beneficiaries instead of 5 kg rice under the Anna Bhagya scheme. He asked the government how it will get the bank account details of beneficiaries to transfer cash.

During the discussion on the governor's speech, he read out the entire article published in The New Indian Express on June 30 with the headline, " No bank details in BPL cards, tough for Karnataka govt to send money". Kumaraswamy said he is not against the scheme, but wanted to know how the government will send money through direct benefit transfer, while there are no bank details in ration cards.

In reply, CM Siddaramiah said there are 1.28 crore APL and BPL cards and 4.42 crore beneficiaries. "There is no issue. We will send money," he said.

GIVE GRAINS, OIL INSTEAD OF 5 KG RICE, HDK TELSS GOVT

HD Kumaraswamy urged the government to give grains, oil and sugar instead of 5 kg of additional rice which has been announced in Anna Bhagya. He said the state government is giving Rs 170 cash per beneficiary instead of 5 kg rice. "If a family uses the money to purchase rice or grains, I have no issues. With liquor shops open early in the morning, people, especially from the working class, stand there. What if they misuse this money to buy liquor," he asked.

NEED AIRPORT AT BALLARI, SAYS REDDY

Gangavati MLA Gali Janardhan Reddy demanded that the State Government set up an airport in Ballari, to boost tourism. Slamming the previous BJP government, he said it had announced Rs 120 crore for the development of Anjanadri hills , but did not release a single rupee. "The area can be developed with many facilities, including roads, toilets and a ropeway, and people will visit Anjandri, the birthplace of Hanuman. With Ayodhya getting developed, people expect Hanuman's birthplace to be developed too," he said. "900 acres of land has been identified for the airport. There will be no issue of money to develop the airport as a mining fund is available," the former minister said. ENS

ONE-TIME RELIEF FOR NURSING ASPIRANTS

Medical Education Minister Dr Sharanaprakash Patil said those who have not got eligibility in CET for BSc (Nursing) will also be accommodated as a one-time measure this academic year. Replying to MLC SV Sankanur, he said there were 33,000 nursing seats in the state and 1,75,682 students were eligible for the seats through CET. Sankanur said as the process of seat allotment for the course was done through CET for the first time and as many students didn't get enough time to prepare for CET, the rules that were followed in the previous academic year should be followed. In reply, the minister said while preference will be given to allot seats to those who are eligible through CET, other students will also be accommodated as a one-time measure. ENS

STOP POLITICS OVER RICE: SALEEM TO CENTRE

Congress chief whip in the Council Saleem Ahmed launched a scathing attack against BJP on Wednesday, while replying to the Governor's address. He said the Centre has five ministers, 25 Lok Sabha members and Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitaraman from Karnataka. Yet, they have not fought for rice to be given to people. The government put up 3.86 lakh tonnes of rice for sale in the open market, but managed to get bids for only 170 tonnes. Karnataka had placed a bid for 40 tonnes of rice with the Food Corporation of India, but it was denied. "We will take the misdeeds of BJP to people in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls," he said. ENS

Cong stages silent protest against Rahul's disqualification, Centre's 'vindictive politics'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CONGRESS leaders of the state, including Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, staged a silent protest at the city's Freedom Park on Wednesday against the disqualification of party leader Rahul Gandhi as an MP and what they called "a conspiracy by the BJP-led Centre to finish off his political career".

The agitating Congress leaders wore a black tape covering their mouth as a mark of protest. Apart from the CM and DyCM, ministers KH Muniyappa, Dr G Parameshwara, HC Mahadevappa, Ramalinga Reddy and NS Boseraju, and KPCC working president Saleem Ahmed, AICC general secretary Randeep Surjewala among other Congress leaders took part in the protest.

Holding placards that read "let the truth be loud and clear, the truth cannot be hidden by trickery", the Congress leaders called the BJP government at the Centre as undemocratic.

Surjewala said Rahul Gandhi started the fight from Kolar seeking answers from the Modi government on the bank frauds between 2017 and 2022. "Let us ask why loans worth Rs 10 lakh crore have been waived off by the Modi government in five years. Why do top 50 willful bank defaulters owe the banks Rs 92,570 crore?" Surjewala asked. Let every court and citizen also seek answers as to when the defaulter will be brought to justice and public money recovered, he added.

Congress leaders, including CM Siddaramaiah, DyCM DK Shivakumar and party general secretary Randeep Surjewala protest in Bengaluru on Wednesday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

The Gujarat High Court on Friday upheld a session court's order on Rahul Gandhi and rejected his plea to give a stay on his conviction in the defamation case.

Shivakumar accused the BJP and RSS of indulging in "vindictive politics" with a conspiracy against the Nehru-Gandhi family and wishing to put an end to Rahul's political career. "They could not stomach the overwhelming response and the support Rahul got for his Bharat Jodo Yatra from Kanniyakumari to Kashmir. He will never stop his mission and let us remove the BJP government in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls," he said.

Rahul had made a remark on the 'Modi surname' at a public rally in Kolar in the run up to 2019 Lok Sabha polls following which a Gujarat court convicted him. The Gujarat HC upheld this and rejected his plea to give a stay following which the Congress staged protests across the country.

It may be noted here that Rahul had returned to Kolar in April, 2023 and took part in a public rally.

Vijayendra focuses on agri issues in maiden speech in House

ENS @ Bengaluru

FORMER CM B S Yediyurappa's son B Y Vijayendra on Wednesday delivered his maiden speech on the Governor's address, with a stress on agrarian issues, and criticised Siddaramaiah's budget as it has not made an allocation for the PM's 'Kisan Samman Yojana'.

"The Narendra Modi government at the Centre has been releasing Rs 6,000 to every farmer, and when B S Yediyurappa was Karnataka chief minister, he took a decision to release Rs 4,000 as the state's share. Unfortunately, the Congress government that has come to power in the state has stopped it," he remarked. He also advised the state government and Congress leaders "not to waste time" criticising Modi and projecting the Centre as "anti-people and anti-farmer" as it has done a lot by giving subsidies for fertilisers.

He took on the Congress, alleging that when UPA was in power at the Centre, it had helped many industrialists avail of loans from national banks, and who eventually became defaulters.

CB-CID team probing custodial torture case yet to file chargesheet against suspended ASP Balveer Singh

THINAKARAN RAJAMANI
@ Tirunelveli

DELAY by Tamil Nadu government in granting sanction for prosecution of ASP Balveer Singh is hampering filing of charge sheet by the CB-CID against the suspended officer in custodial torture cases, sources said.

A CB-CID team probing the case has not arrested Singh and other police personnel accused of removing the teeth of suspects in Ambasamudram, Kallidaikurichi and VK Puthur police stations even 125 days after the first incident of torture was recorded on March 10.

Based on the complaint of Arunkumar, one of the victims, police had registered their first case against Singh and his team on May 1 under various sections of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act and Section 75 of The Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act.

A few more cases were later registered based on complaints from other victims.

"Even as they were conducting inquiry with the victims and the accused personnel, the CB-CID sleuths sent a request to the state government demanding nod for prosecuting the accused. The chargesheet is almost ready," sources said.

Executive director of People's Watch Henry Tiphagne said to TNIE that he would soon file a 'direction petition' before the Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court demanding filing of charge sheet by the CB-CID.

"As SC/ST (POA) Act sections were invoked against the accused, CB-CID should have filed the charge sheet within 60 days. But they have not done it even 73 days after the registration of case on Arunkumar's complaint. We suspect CB-CID sleuths are intentionally delaying filing of charge sheet against Singh. The state has not even disbursed the compensation to the victims under SC/ST (POA) Act," he said

Loan app harassment: Engg student hangs self

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

IN yet another case of lending apps harassing loan takers, a 22-year-old engineering student died by suicide here on Tuesday evening.

The deceased, G Tejas, had helped his friend get a loan from lending apps. But his friend had allegedly stopped paying the EMIs for the last one year after which the victim was constantly being harassed by loan providers. Unable to bear the torture, he reportedly hanged himself at his residence in HMT Quarters.

Tejas, studying mechanical engineering at a private engineering college in Yelahanka, had reportedly borrowed money from over three money lending apps for his friend, identified as Mahesh. The victim has left behind a suicide note, saying harassment by representatives of loan apps as the reason for his death. He has stated that he did not have any option but to end his life as he was unable to clear the loan. He has also said sorry to his parents, and concluded the letter with thanks and a goodbye.

"After his friend failed to clear the loan, the victim is said to have borrowed money from his cousins to repay. He again took some loans from the apps to return the money to his cousins. He is said to have borrowed Rs 30,000 and had to pay Rs 15,000 as interest," said a police officer, who is part of the investigation team. The Jalahalli police registered a case based on the statement of the victim's father Gopinath.

Woman undergoes surgeries

"This resulted in both of us falling on the road. Luckily, there were no vehicles behind us or else it could have been fatal. We sat on the footpath for a few minutes and a couple in a car helped shift her to hospital," Velumani told The New Indian Express.

Malar had to undergo multiple surgeries on her face at a private hospital. "Only on Tuesday, she was able to mutter a few words," Velumani said. He filed a complaint with Banaswadi police on Monday morning. Police took Malar's statement at the hospital on Tuesday.

A police officer, who is investigating the case, said the CCTV cameras at the traffic signal are not working.

"We are checking the CCTV cameras in the vicinity. As it was dark, we are unable to pinpoint the two-wheeler on which the accused escaped. Even the victims were unable to see the bike or its registration number. Efforts are being made to nab the accused," he said.

More EV stations to come up in Karnataka

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

TO encourage citizens to use electric vehicles, the energy department has submitted its plan to set up 2378 charges in various parts of Karnataka to the state government. It has also proposed to set up 10 EV charging stations on NH-48.

The plan is to get all the charging stations functioning in the next six months, provided the tender process and land acquisition goes as per plan, a senior energy department official told TNIE.

The proposed 2378 units will come up in 1169 stations, of which 756 units are in Bescom limits, followed by 504 in Hescom limits. The department has also proposed 314 in CESC limits, 384 in Mescom limits and 284 in Gescom limits.

As per the report submitted to the government, 120 KW fast chargers are proposed for six EV stations at Chitradurga toll plazas and four in Dharwad. Final approval of the proposal submitted in December 2022 to the NHAI is awaited, officials said. Joint surveys have also been done by the department officials along with the RTOs.

"Tenders for some stations in Bengaluru, Tumakuru, Mysuru, Davangere, Belagavi and Dakshin Kannada had to be recalled because of poor response. Now it is being retendered. Also, the technical scrutiny committee has approved the bids for Chikkamagalur, Shivamogga, Hassan, Belagavi, Haveri and Dakshin Kannada," an official said.

While the department was working on setting up AC and DC charging stations in urban areas, DC fast charging stations will be set up along highways due to the paucity of time and the distance that vehicles need to cover."

As per EV and battery manufacturers, non-fast chargers should be preferred, especially personal ones as this ensures long battery life. However, in public places, to avoid long queues, fast charging stations are set up.

A VETERINARIAN from Karnataka, working with the state forest department will be honoured with the Gaj Gaurav award by the Ministry of Environment, Forests and Climate Change on World Elephant Day observed on August 12.

The ministry announced its decision to award Dr Vaseem Mirza, working in Bandipur Tiger Reserve (BTR), on July 10, 2023 and the state forest department was intimated about the same on July 11, 2023.

"This is the first time an official from Karnataka is getting such an award. It is very encouraging," Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (PCCF), wildlife, Subhash Malkhade told The New Indian Express.

Dr Mirza is being recognised for his efforts towards saving the life of an electrocuted cow elephant in February 2023, near BTR. Today, the elephant is fit and healthy in the wild. It was appreciated by the ministry as well as the Prime Minister.

Additional PCCF, wildlife, Kumar Pushkar suggested Dr Mirza's name for the award.

The awards were launched by the ministry in 2022 to recognise and appreciate the frontline staffers and officials for their works in the field of wildlife.

Last year, staffers from Tamil Nadu were honoured with the award in Kerala's Periyar tiger reserve. This year the elephant day event will be held in Odisha.

PEOPLE-CENTRIC PLOT BJP'S BEST BET FOR ITS SOUTHERN VOYAGE

The proposal for Prime Minister Narendra Modi to contest from Ramanathapuram in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections renews the BJP's focus on winning the southern states in the country. The seat is currently held by a member of the Indian Union Muslim League who contested as part of the alliance with DMK. Given Ramanathapuram's location in southern Tamil Nadu, where the BJP and its affiliates have been working for many years, the strength of the AIADMK, its current alliance partner, and the performance of the BJP candidate in 2019 (he polled over 32% of votes), the prime minister might feel assured of victory. Such a victory would prove more a morale booster for the party's cadre than a sign of significant inroads into the state.

The party's poll strategists have never really neglected the southern states, but it cannot be denied that the BJP has found the going much harder than it would like. Its loss in Karnataka has left it somewhat unmoored in the state, while in Telangana, infighting has only recently been tamed. In Andhra, the party may be counting on an alliance with TDP to take the former to success. In Kerala, experts opine that the carefully built bridges into minority hearts, especially among the Christian community, are shaky after unending violence against Christians in Manipur and the revival of the debate on the Uniform Civil Code. The latter will prove divisive in the other southern states as well. Even in Ramanathapuram, which has a significant Muslim population, the issue will likely rally voters against the BJP; a victory would not come easy.

The party's choice of governors in Telangana, Kerala and Tamil Nadu may also wound its prospects at the hustings. In Tamil Nadu, for instance, R N Ravi has exceeded his brief so frequently and flagrantly and for so little gain that even the state BJP chief K Annamalai was recently moved to say that governors should not talk politics. By casting themselves as the main characters in the daily soap opera of politics, they have often reinforced a certain stereotype of the BJP and have given the ruling parties in the states leave to play victim to the Centre's machinations at will. If the BJP is serious about making inroads into South India, it must tailor its agenda to the people rather than hoping to ride the PM's coattails.

KERALA NEEDS FASTER TRAVEL OPTIONS

Kerala's SilverLine high-speed rail project which was stalled midway following public protests, is back in focus with the entry of 'Metro Man' E Sreedharan. The state government had approached the country's premier rail architect to suggest ways to implement the project. The SilverLine project had proposed constructing a 529.45 km-long semi-high-speed rail corridor that would connect Thiruvananthapuram in the south to Kasaragod in the north in just four hours. While the project was quite futuristic, protests had erupted from various quarters, including the Opposition parties led by the Congress, a group of environmentalists, and people living along the proposed rail route. Finally, under pressure, the state government had to halt all the work last November.

It was K V Thomas, former MoS for Food in the UPA government and now the state's special representative in Delhi, who met Sreedharan on behalf of the government. In his note to Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan via the latter's emissary, Sreedharan has now suggested an overhaul of the project. Sreedharan, who has successfully executed big rail projects on time, including the Konkan rail, had earlier opposed the original SilverLine plan, saying it was not viable and would cause environmental issues. As per Sreedharan's new plan, the entire rail stretch will be elevated or underground. Hence, land acquisition would happen at a much lesser scale compared to the initial project. Environmental repercussions could also be minimised. He also wants Delhi Metro Rail Corporation or the Indian Railways to execute the project, estimated to cost around ₹1 lakh crore.

There are no two opinions on whether Kerala needs a better and faster travel option. Successive governments have been trying to implement various projects without much success. The previous UDF government under Oommen Chandy, too, had proposed a similar high-speed rail project but failed. The state government expects to win the people's confidence in the project by bringing Sreedharan into the picture.

The ball is now in the CM's court, and his next move will most likely determine the fate of the mega rail project in Kerala. That a thickly populated state like Kerala needs a faster railway network is something everyone agrees to. But it should be implemented only after allaying the insecurities of everyone concerned. Taking everyone into confidence is the key to every successful project, and that is something the LDF government should not forget.

QUICK TAKE

CHILD AS WITNESS

The Supreme Court alerts trial courts to the complexities of recording evidence from child witnesses. It wants them to ascertain that minors understand the questions before registering their statement. But the real challenge is recording a child's statement when the incident is still fresh in their mind and before family members get the chance to tutor them. Judging a case based entirely on a minor's evidence is tough for this very reason. One option is making the police accountable for recording a minor's statement at the crime scene before a magistrate, who must be available if a child witness is involved.

A FRENCH TOAST TO INDIA ON BASTILLE DAY

K P NAYAR, Strategic analyst

SOUMYADIP SINHA

As Prime Minister Narendra Modi landed in Paris to be chief guest at the French national day—Bastille Day—parade, opinion was divided in the global strategic community on which of his two most recent state visits would have a greater impact on world affairs or significance in India's external affairs. Would his parleys in the White House overshadow his talks in the Élysée Palace or vice versa, although the two meetings do not constitute a zero-sum game? Or would they complement each other in making the world a better place for everyone?

In the international fraternity, all eyes are on whether Modi and French President Emmanuel Macron will initiate a peace plan to end the Ukraine war. Macron was the first world leader to praise Modi's words to Russian President Vladimir Putin that "this is not the era of war". Macron reiterated this praise in his speech to the United Nations General Assembly in September 2022: rarely does one country's leader praise another in an annual General Assembly address. Both Modi and Macron are capable of speaking to Putin and Ukraine's president, Volodymyr Zelenskyy: in today's polarised world, few leaders are equipped to do so.

It is not very well known that at the request of France, India participated in a "Solidarity with the Ukrainian People" conference in Paris in December, which raised one billion euros to be spent on humanitarian assistance to mitigate the fallout of the war. India's role in working with Russia for the safety of the Zaporizhzhia nuclear power plant is also not well-publicised. The next logical step is for Élysée Palace and 7, Lok Kalyan Marg—the prime ministerial residence—to make a joint plan and find a way to end the 16-month-long war.

Despite centuries of links through former enclaves like Puducherry and Mahe, for the Indian masses, France is now an ambiguous entity, unlike countries in the Anglo-Saxon geographical sphere or Dubai and Saudi Arabia, which are magnets for migrants from Kapurthala to Kasargod. So, Modi's visit will have many novelties. For instance, the prime minister will be in the hall of fame in Paris today as he arrives at the La Seine Musicale. This venue, where Modi will speak to the Indian community in France, has not seen anyone like Modi before. La Seine Musicale, which translates as 'The Musical Seine', is on an island. It takes its name from the river which divides Paris into its iconic left bank, home to artists for more than a century, and the right bank, where the majesty of the Arc de Triomphe looks benevolently upon the world-famous Avenue des Champs-Élysées.

Bob Dylan was the first artist to perform at La Seine Musicale when it opened in April 2017. The last two were Amjad Ali Khan and L Subramaniam on July 8 and 9, respectively. When France hosted the Junior Eurovision Song Contest for the first time in 2021, it was held at Grand Seine, a part of the same complex. It is an unusual venue for politicians to speak, that too for a visiting prime minister. Despite travelling across the world, Modi has not graced any place as unique as La Seine Musicale. The only time he did anything similar was on September 28, 2014, in New York's open-air Central Park. Modi then spoke late-night at a Global Citizen Festival, with celebrities like actor Hugh Jackman, rapper Jay Z and singer Carrie Underwood in attendance. India's Ambassador in Paris, Jawed Ashraf, was in the Prime Minister's Office when Modi went to Central Park and may have got the idea of taking Modi to this musical island from that experience. The newly elected Indian prime minister caught the attention of New Yorkers, who are used to foreign heads of government and are not usually impressed by visiting politicians.

Modi's journey to Seguin Island offers an opportunity to repeat that rare appeal and boost cultural cooperation with France: if one thing makes France sit up, it is culture.

Currently celebrating the silver jubilee of their strategic partnership, Franco-Indian relations are robust. And these relations are not merely transactional just because a slew of weapons purchases and at least one joint production scheme are to be announced by Modi during his visit. Franco-Indian relations go beyond this.

From that strong bilateral footing, India hopes to rebuild relations with Continental Europe, which fell by the wayside in the last two decades because of New Delhi's other, more immediate foreign policy priorities. The Ukraine war, which has created—or deepened—an unnatural division between Russia and the rest of the continent, demands a fresh look at India's policies for Europe.

For Continental Europeans—especially the Germans, who thrived for three decades on cheap Russian energy and lucrative Chinese markets—the war has triggered a need to search for new and more reliable options. India could be one such option if New Delhi plays its cards right. France could be India's springboard in this effort, just as Singapore was a similar springboard in the 1990s when P V Narasimha Rao's India, in the first wave of liberalisation, sought to broaden its economic engagement with a sceptical Southeast Asia. Conversely, Europe could see France as an example of how to treat India as a mature Asian power and a re-emerging participant in the Global Commons.

Despite the EU cloning its EU-US Trade and Technology Council by creating a much-touted India-Europe Trade and Technology Council a year ago, problems with an institutionalised European Union remain. The European Parliament continues to table resolutions criticising India on a host of issues. And although its criticisms aren't taken too seriously on the global stage, it does create some amount of nuisance for India.

At the root of the problem is an Old Europe vs. New Europe tussle, where one cannot get rid of old colonial complexes and the other's new outlook is to put money where its mouth is. As Modi and Macron honour the memory of those who fought for the enduring values of the French Revolution, Franco-Indian relations constitute a shining example of realism and how to be pragmatic without sacrificing traditional values.

THE PITFALLS OF LOVE ACROSS THREE BORDERS

KAJAL BASU, Veteran journalist

First, the bare bones facts of a riveting romance spanning two cities and three countries. It seemingly has the world agog, but, inexplicably, the media is not digging deep. Seema Ghulam Haider, 27, from Pakistan's Sindh, fell in love with Sachin Meena, 22, an Indian who lives in Greater Noida, on the international digital killing-field of the multiplayer game PUBG: Battlegrounds.

Along with her four minor children, she made her winding way to meet Sachin, travelling from Karachi to Dubai and then making an illegal entry into India from adjoining Nepal. Having planned the itinerary with Sachin using the help of YouTube videos, she landed up at his doorstep and moved in with him into his rented accommodation. Eventually, the subterfuge came to light when the lawyer they approached to get her domicile in India reported her to the police. The couple was arrested, sentenced to 14-day judicial custody, and given bail four days later by a local civil court convinced of the validity of their "love/friendship".

Seema says she has converted to Hinduism and given her children Hindu names. The couple now wishes to consolidate the relationship in India with a Hindu marriage. The couple is young and fetching, endearingly naïve on the face of it, each from a country long and implacably hostile to the other. It is a story straight out of Bollywood (and I'm willing to bet that a jingoistic chest-thumper is being storyboarded even as we speak).

But nothing is straightforward in a fairytale. There are questions about Seema's tale of escape from a dead-end marriage in Pakistan into love in India, and there are legal hurdles to be crossed between three subcontinental nations uncomfortable with one another.

Seema had married Ghulam Haider in February 2014 at Jacobabad in Sindh province, Pakistan. Haider has been working as a labourer in Saudi Arabia since 2019. Seema, who met Sachin online in the same year, says that she and her husband, who was abusive to her from the very beginning, have been out of touch for years. Haider told the Pakistani media that he last spoke to her on May 10 this year, that theirs was a love marriage, and that, forced by disapproval from Seema's parents, they had relocated to Karachi shortly after the Nikah ceremony.

Seema and Sachin claim that they married according to Hindu rites at the Pashupatinath temple in Kathmandu on March 13, and that their additional marriage in India would only be to legally and religiously consolidate it.

Here are the doubts. While Nepal has liberal marriage laws, a mere ritual in a temple is not enough to establish marital status in the country between two foreigners, one a Muslim and the other a Hindu. They would need their passports; no-objection certificates from their respective embassies; two witness statements; clear evidence of at least 15 days' stay in the district in Nepal where the marriage is to be registered; the original document of the marriage law of the home country as well as its Nepali translation; and a notarised affidavit that neither is married to another.

PTI

> Can Seema marry Sachin in India? There are several politico-legal and religious hurdles. She publicly said Haider had divorced her over the phone: triple talaq. If so, it is illegal

They do not prima facie have these papers. Seema has gone on record that she and Sachin stayed in a hotel (in Pokhara) for a week in March (after which they returned to their respective countries)—which is one week too short. Moreover, the Pashupatinath temple, where they say they took their vows, is in Kathmandu, 200 km from Pokhara and in another district altogether. While Seema has a passport, Sachin does not. A legal marriage could not have been solemnised (not even between two Hindus, which would be recognised in India under the Hindu Marriage Act) because Seema is legally a Muslim and could not have procured a document attesting otherwise.

Can Seema marry Sachin in India? There are several politico-legal and religious hurdles. She has publicly said that Haider had divorced her over the phone: triple talaq. If so, it is illegal—in Pakistan, as in India. She needs to either provide a Talaqnama (divorce deed) from an elected local government body known as the Union Council, or initiate a divorce herself through Khula and obtain a copy of the divorce decree from a family court. Pending either, she remains married to Haider and, therefore, cannot marry Sachin.

Also, there exist in India the currently near-insurmountable obstacles of Pakophobia and convertophobia. Had the tables been turned—if Seema were Indian or Hindu and Sachin Pakistani or Muslim—that insupportable accusation, 'love jihad', would have swung into shrill action (instead of the overt demonstration of Indophilic romanticisation now underway in the media and the judiciary).

While canonical Hinduism does not confess to a procedure of proselytism, Hinduism in praxis today does insist on a process of conversion from another faith: Shuddhikaran, or purification ceremony. While there is no Central law on conversion, various states have laws governing it that require legal documentation. (Even the Arya Samaj professes to have a certificated conversion procedure dating back to 1877.) Without this, Seema will remain a Muslim, and cannot, as the couple dearly wishes, be married under the Hindu Marriage Act.

Left unamplified are doubts about Seema's narrative being raised in Pakistan—about her colloquial-Hindi, Urdu-free speech, and the inconsistency in her statement that she sold her parents' land, not Haider's, to fund her odyssey.

The damped ripples here could cause a breaker in Pakistan. A video circulating on social media shows armed men from Haider's Jakhrani tribe in Jacobabad warning the Indian government of consequences if Seema is not deported.

Most countries tend to go easy on trans-border romances, but the subcontinent is another place. Bilateral romances might be driven by the imperatives of statecraft. True love can be dogged by the scepticality of the state. Reality might not be what it seems.

Uttarakhand landslides

While our hearts shed tears and we pray for the victims of the floods and landslides in Uttarakhand, we, as Indians, must reach out to the helpless. It is a wakeup call to the government to maintain all our water bodies properly and plant more trees.

Incentivising rape

This is with reference to the quick take Patriarchal practice (July 12). The act of rape is always committed with a bad intention. The practice of reaching a compromise by allowing the accused to marry the survivor is harmful, as the former escapes from punishment. Such a settlement doesn't kill rape culture but incentivises it.

Patriarchal culture

The quick take Patriarchal practice (July 12) is timely, rightly stating that such unions are illegal. Existing laws including POCSO seem to have little success in deterring such crimes. This is due to erroneous legal interpretation, delayed justice, social stigma, among other reasons. The onus lies on the parents, teachers and society as a whole to shatter the patriarchal mindset of boys.

Karnataka's future

Karnataka appears to be heading towards a state of lawlessness, something which was prevalent in the previous Congress period. The brutal murders of the Jain monk and a tribal BJP leader did not get much media attention. The brutal murder of an MD and a CEO of a tech company on Tuesday also points to the direction in which Karnataka is heading. Had these things happened in a state like UP, there would have been panel discussions on news channels for days.

24 Oppn parties invited for B'luru meet, Sonia to attend

It is important to continue these discussions and build on the momentum that we have created (on June 23 meeting). We need to work together to find solutions to the challenges that our country is facing
Mallikarjun Kharge, Congress chief

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

THE Congress has invited at least 24 parties to attend the second meeting of opposition parties on July 17 and 18 in Bengaluru.

Congress Parliamentary Party chairperson Sonia Gandhi will participate in the meeting, which is being convened by the party as a part of its effort to forge an anti-BJP front ahead of the 2024 general election. Sonia Gandhi is likely to host a dinner meeting on July 17 for all leaders, said an opposition leader.

On Monday, Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said that Sonia Gandhi is likely to attend the meeting. "I am confident that she will also participate. AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge has requested her to attend this meeting," he said.

The second edition of the meeting is expected to deliberate on concrete strategies for shaping statewise coalitions, maximising anti-BJP votes at state levels fielding common candidates against the BJP, among others.

An opposition leader said that more regional parties are invited in the second edition to discuss the strategies.

Leaders of 15 Opposition parties attended the first such conclave which was held in Patna on June 23. In the meeting, the parties resolved to fight against the BJP unitedly and dislodge it from power in the 2024 elections. The new political parties that will be joining the meeting include Marumalarchi Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam (MDMK), Kongu Desa Makkal Katchi (KDMK), Viduthalai Chiruthaigal Katchi (VCK), Revolutionary Socialist Party (RSP), All India Forward Bloc, Indian Union Muslim League (IUML), Kerala Congress (Joseph), and Kerala Congress (Mani).

Speaking to this newspaper, Kerala Congress (M) chairman and MP Jose K Mani confirmed his party's participation in the meeting. "I received the invitation from Kharge and we will be attending it," Mani said.

In his letter, Kharge urged the leaders of the parties to strengthen the momentum of the unity. "The June 23 meeting was a great success as we were able to discuss important issues that threaten our democratic polity and came to a unanimous agreement on a common fight in the next general election," he said.

"I believe that it is important to continue these discussions and build on the momentum that we have created. We need to work together to find solutions to the challenges that our country is facing," he added.

Though AAP attended the first meeting in Patna, the party is likely to miss the second edition, sources said. Though Congress has extended an invitation to AAP, the party said it would attend the meeting only if the Congress declares its stance on the Centre's Delhi Ordinance.

AAP may stay away

Though AAP attended the first meeting, it is likely to miss the second edition. Though Congress has extended an invitation to AAP, the party said it would attend the meeting only when the Congress declares its stance on the Centre's Delhi Ordinance.

Nadda discusses strategy to win 'weak' Lok Sabha seats

BJP has also identified 160 LS seats across states, including West Bengal and Kerala where the party candidates lost the elections by small margin or remained second or third position against the rivals
BJP functionary

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

BJP national president JP Nadda on Wednesday chaired a meeting of the party's recently launched Lok Sabha Pravas Yojana and discussed strategies for the upcoming Lok Sabha polls and assembly election in some states.

Nadda dwelt upon various initiatives of the party and emphasised on taking the Modi government's welfare schemes to the masses.

Party leaders and chiefs of various wings, MPs and incharge of Lok Sabha Pravas Yojana discussed and shared details of their visits to Lok Sabha constituencies.

Nadda reportedly said the party is working to fulfill the expectations of people of all sections. According to sources, the BJP chief also went through the key issues on which the party is focusing to retain power after the 2024 general election.

Sources said Nadda also discussed an action plan crafted to cover 160 LS seats, identified as weak to party on the basis of its candidates' performances in 2019 polls.

"A detailed strategy on how to take the Modi government's works in the last nine years across all sections of the society was one of the prime issues discussed at length. The feedback of Lok Sabha Pravas Yojana was also discussed. Party leaders have been asked to remain with the people," a senior leader said.

Many senior functionaries like national general secretary Vinod Tawde and Sunil Bansal deliberated upon the party's success plans.

"A new concept of clusters of LS constituencies was discussed, under which senior leaders will make efforts to consolidate the party's electoral prospects," a senior BJP leader said.

Sources said BJP leaders will conduct the Panchayat conferences first in Harayana, Himachal Pradesh, Jammu & Kashmir, Uttar Pradesh, Rajasthan, Uttarakhand and other states of Northern region, followed by states falling under Western, Southern and Eastern regions.

"The party has also identified 160 LS seats across states, including West Bengal and Kerala, where BJP candidates lost the elections by small margins or remained in second or third positions. The party had covered all these LS seats during Lok Sabha Pravas Yojana and whatever they got during stay in the LS constituencies was also discussed," said a source.

The party has also chalked out a pan-India strategy to organise meetings with the panchayat chiefs and members in each district of the country on the Modi government's performances.

Earlier, BJP chief JP Nadda had also discussed the party's strategies with the heads of all the seven fronts of the party and its national general secretaries and office bearers in the last one fortnight.

Deliberations on key issues

BJP national president Nadda reportedly said the party is working to fulfill the expectations of people of all sections. According to sources, the BJP chief also went through the key issues on which the party is focusing to retain power after the 2024 LS polls.

UNHRC flays Sweden on Quran burning; India backs OIC resolution

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

INDIA was among the 28 countries that voted in favour of a United Nations Human Rights Council (UNHRC) resolution on religious hatred in the backdrop of the burning of Quran in Sweden. Twelve countries voted against the resolution and seven abstained.

Argentina, China, Cuba, India, South Africa, Ukraine and Vietnam were amongst those who backed the resolution. Britain, the United States, European Union countries including France and Germany, plus Costa Rica and Montenegro, voted against the resolution. Benin, Chile, Mexico, Nepal and Paraguay abstained.

Amongst those who strongly opposed this were the US and European Union, who said this resolution is in conflict with their view on human rights and freedom of expression.

The resolution, introduced by Pakistan, on behalf of the 57-nation Organisation of Islamic Cooperation (OIC), called for the UN Rights chief to publish a report on religious hatred and for states to review their laws and plug gaps that may "impede the prevention and prosecution of acts and advocacy of religious hatred."

It may be recalled that an Iraqi immigrant to Sweden burned the Quran outside a Stockholm mosque last month, sparking outrage across the Muslim world. Demands by Muslim States for action followed.

The outcome of the vote is a setback for the Western countries as they feel the resolution infringes on an individual's freedom of expression.

China extends support

China, which is always under the scanner for its alleged treatment of the Uighurs, supported the OIC resolution. "Islamophobia is on the rise. Incidents involving desecrating the holy Quran have happened again and again in some countries. These countries have done nothing to implement their professed respect for the protection of freedom of religious belief," China's ambassador to UN, Chen Xu, said.

Bastille Day visit: PM likely to finalise defence deals

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi will leave for Paris on Thursday. He has been invited as the Guest of Honour for the Bastille Day Parade on July 14. This will be the the Prime Minister's sixth visit to France.

On the French National Day, a 269-member Indian triservices contingent will also march in Paris. In addition to this, three Rafale jets and an Indian Air Force Globemaster C17 will also be a part of the flypast.

The French National Day, or Bastille Day, occupies a special place in French consciousness. This day commemorates the Storming of the Bastille Prison in 1789 during the French Revolution.

"This visit coincides with the 25th anniversary of India-France Strategic Partnerhsip. France is a key strategic partner for India," said foreign secretary Vinay Mohan Kwatra.

Modi will have various meetings with French President Emmanuel Macron, who will return to the country from Lithuania after attending the NATO leaders' summit.

The PM will also attend a private dinner and joint meetings with CEOs. President Macron will host the State Banquet at the iconic Louvre Museum on the Bastille Day. He will interact with the entire political leadership of France, including their Prime Minister Borne and the Presidents of the Senate and National Assembly.

Meanwhile, deals for 26 additional Rafale M fighters and three more Scorpene class submarines for the Navy are likely to be cleared. The Defence Acquisiton Council is expected to hold a meeting within a day or two on this.

The Indian Air Force operates 36 Rafale jets customised for Indian requirements under a 7.87 billion euros deal signed in April 2016. The outcomes of the bilateral talks will include defence, space, geostrategy, energy and infrastructure.

Modi to hold talks with UAE prez on Friday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

AFTER attending the Bastille Day celebrations in France on Thursday, Prime Minister Narendra Modi will visit Abu Dhabi on July 15.

Modi will hold talks with Sheikh Mohamed bin Zayed Al Nahyan, President of UAE and the Ruler of Abu Dhabi. "The India-UAE Comprehensive Strategic Partnership has been steadily strengthening and the Prime Minister's visit will be an opportunity to identify ways to take this forward in various domains such as energy, education, healthcare, food security, fintech, defence and culture," said foreign secretary Vinay Mohan Kwatra.

The PM's UAE visit will also be an opportunity to discuss cooperation on global issues, particularly in the context of UAE's Presidency of COP-28 of the UNFCCC and India's G-20 Presidency, in which UAE is a special invitee.

Heavy rains forecast in Bengal, Bihar

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

AFTER a spell of heavy rainfall over the Northwest region, the monsoon will likely shift to East and Northeast India, as well as the Gangetic plains for the next five days, the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) has predicted. The IMD has issued a red alert over Bihar, West Bengal and Assam, while significant parts of North, Central and East India are under an orange alert for the next five days.

According to the red alert advisory, parts of Bihar, Meghalaya, sub-Himalayas, West Bengal and Sikkim will receive extremely heavy rainfall of more than 204.4 mm during July 12-13. The intense rainfall would cause localised flooding, landslides and flash floods, the IMD said, suggesting that people avoid visiting waterlogged areas and stay away of vulnerable structures.

The IMD has issued an 'orange alert' advisory for the rest of Bihar, Meghalaya, Assam, Uttar Pradesh and Central India, which is likely to get very heavy rainfall, between 115.6mm and 204.4mm, on July 13.

IMD sounds alert

Red alert for parts of Bihar, Meghalaya, sub-Himalayas, West Bengal and Sikkim: Extremely heavy rainfall (more than 204.4 mm) from JULY 12-13

Orange alert for the rest of Bihar, Meghalaya, Assam, Uttar Pradesh and Central India: Very heavy rainfall (115.6-204.4mm) on JULY 13

ANOTHER ACTIVE PHASE OF MONSOON FROM JULY 19, WITH A DEPRESSION BEING FORMED OVER THE BAY OF BENGAL, WHICH WILL MOVE ACROSS CENTRAL INDIA

It had issued a red alert over southern Uttarakhand on Wednesday. The day saw Haridwar, Rudraprayag and Dehradun receiving heavy rainfall of 124 mm, 80.5mm and 60 mm, respectively. However, it has predicted a decrease in rainfall in Northwest India from Wednesday.

The monsoon would be active over Eastern India, said Madhvan Rajeevan, former secretary of the Ministry of Earth Sciences. "After an active phase, monsoon will be slightly weaker and be confined to Uttar Pradesh, Bihar and Jharkhand for the next few days," he said.

Rajeevan said that another active phase of monsoon will begin from July 19 with a depression being formed over the Bay of Bengal, which will move across central India. The IMD said an active monsoon may continue over Gangetic plains as well in the next five days.

Author of The Unbearable Lightness of Being dies

VVP SHARMA

ENIGMATIC and grumpy towards the end, Milan Kundera never left his chosen place of exile, Paris. He died there, aged 94.

For a man who wrote about lustrous sex, lightness and laughter, the Czech-born Frenchman was burdened all his life by his animus towards communism.

Communism messed up his life, and that needles his writings. Alas, communism is not socialism but only committed evil in its name, Kundera would realise decades later, meditating in his small space in Paris.

He would not address or explain how his conflict with communism seeped into his works. At best, he admitted, "They reflect the small number of themes that obsess me, define me and restrict me. Beyond these themes, I have nothing else to say or to write."

Having spent his teens under German occupation till 1945, Kundera supported the communists like thousands of fellow Czechs. He was not an adept but a questioner. He paid the price,

MILAN KUNDERA
(APRIL 1, 1929 - JULY 11, 2023)

and was expelled twice.

His first expulsion came in 1950 for an anti-communist remark that eventually would inspire 'The Joke'. He was taken back into the party six years later. The second expulsion followed in 1970 when he called for reform. The communists made him a non-person. Permanently. He lost his job and everything that went with it.

He spent the next years in a bad shape, taking up lowly jobs to keep himself alive. Eventually, he decided to emigrate. Many among the intelligentsia were leaving the country at that time. He left for France in 1975. Four years later, his country revoked his citizenship.

Interestingly, his contemporary and playwright, Vaclav Havel, refused to leave his homeland despite frequent prison sentences. In 1989, he would lead the Velvet Revolution and serve as president of Czechoslovakia and, later, witness the split of the Czech Republic. Kundera's citizenship was restored in 2019, but he was beyond borders by then.

A lot has been said about his writings. The debate is eternal, whether he is a novelist or a philosopher tucked in somewhere. Rather than continue that academic exercise, it would be worth briefly looking at those who influenced him.

Franz Kafka, the master of alienation and absurdity, did influence Kundera. The latter never liked authority. Kafka went a step ahead: he disliked unconditional surrender to authority. Both, in their eras, separately scorned legitimising authority. It is a recurring theme in both their writings.

The other 'influencer' is, of course, Friedrich Nietzsche. The stateless philosopher – Nietzsche was a Prussian without a nationality – is the essence that swirls eternally in Kundera's 'The Unbearable Lightness of Being'. Be it sex or politics, you see it through the kaleidoscope of metaphysics heavily interpreted by Nietzsche. How? Kundera calls it the weight of unbearable responsibility of what we do or don't. For Nietzsche, in his time, the ultimate burden was one of eternal return.

Neitzsche's concept of eternal return is about the cyclical recurrence of the same over time. In 'The Gay Science'. Nietzsche offers it as an experiment, "'This life as you now live it and have lived it, you will have to live once more and innumerable times more; and there will be nothing new in it."

Kundera explores this idea and feels that if life is a loop, "the weight of unbearable responsibility lies heavy on every move we make". He gets caught in it even as he tries to distance himself. On the one hand, he thinks you live only once, and there is no eternal return or recurrence of existence. On the other, when Kundera thinks of happiness, he is fascinated with time being cyclic, which means happiness is endless. So, is life in a loop the root of happiness?

Poll results subject to final order: HC

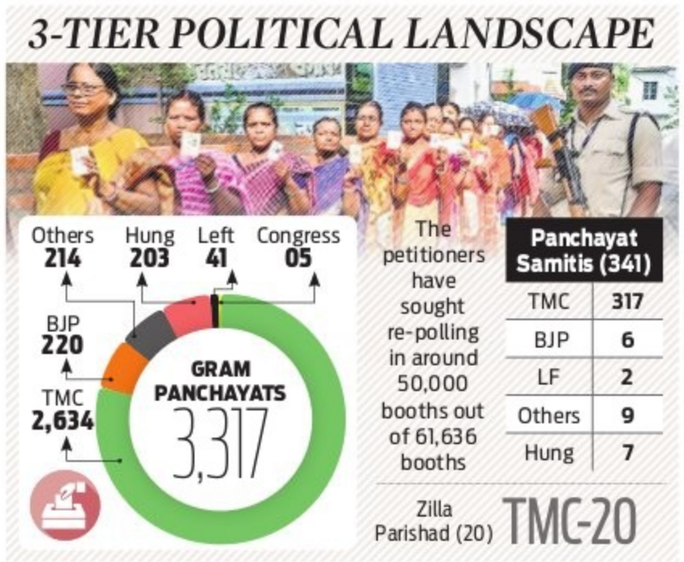
Trashes report submitted by state poll panel on violence during Bengal panchayat elections

PRONAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

Expressing unhappiness over the action taken report submitted by the State Election Commission (SEC) on controlling violence during the panchayat election, the Calcutta High Court on Wednesday said the rural poll results will be subject to final orders to be passed by the court in a number of petitions filed by the Opposition alleging large-scale violence and intimidation by TMC.

The petitioners have also accused the state poll panel of contempt of court in deployment of Central Armed Paramilitary Force (CAPF) personnel. "When the court is seized of the matter, it goes without saying that whatever has been done thus far, i.e., the conduct of the election and the declaration of results, will be subject to the ultimate orders that may be passed," said the division bench, presided by chief justice TS Shivagnanam in its observation.

Responding to the report submitted by the Inspector General of BSF, the nodal officer of the CAPF, over the issue of deployment of personnel on the day of the election, the division bench asked the state government and the State Election Commission (SEC) to submit the affidavits.



Alleging large-scale violence and electoral malpractice on July 8, the petitioners have sought re-polling in around 50,000 booths, out of 61,636 booths. A representative of one of the petitioners displayed videos showing alleged malpractices on the day of the election and the court directed to furnish a copy of the video to the lawyers of the state poll panel, the state government and the Central government. The court said the case would be heard on July 20. Re-polling was conducted in 696 booths on July 9.

BJP sends fact-finding team. On Tuesday, a four-member fact-finding team of BJP, led Ravi Shankar Prasad, arrived in Kolkata from Delhi. They visited a few strife-hit areas in Kolkata's adjoining districts. The team is scheduled to visit north Bengal as well.

"What kind of election is held by your administration and police, Mamata Banerjee? Her government has crossed even the records of the Left regarding misrule. Such incidents took place 15-20 years ago in Bihar and UP," said Prasad.

... meanwhile 4 killed in fresh violence

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

WITH the death of four more persons in the past 24 hours, West Bengal chief minister Mamata Banerjee on Wednesday appealed for peace and expressed her condolences.

Announcing ₹2 lakh compensation for the victims and job of a homeguard for each of the deceased irrespective of their political allegiance, she said, "Those who died are victims of circumstances. We received reports of death of 19 persons. It is unfortunate that so many died. I have told the police to take action. Of the 19, ten were from our party. We will not differentiate on the basis of political allegiance of the deceased."

The Bengal CM said violence was reported from 60 booths. Death of 17 people were reported on the day of the elections and now total death toll has gone up to 45.

Kharge appoints Bastar MP as new C'garh PCC chief

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

IN a major decision ahead of the Assembly polls, the All Indian Congress Committee (AICC) on Wednesday appointed Deepak Baij, the party's Lok Sabha member from Bastar, as the new state president of Chhattisgarh.

Baij replaces Mohan Markam, MLA from north Bastar's Kondagaon constituency. Markam has not been given any new responsibility in the party organisation.

A rift had evidently surfaced within the Congress after the Markam didn't heed to the party in-charge Kumari Selja's directive to cancel his order on reshuffling six key office-bearers in the organisation when he stuck to continue with his decision.

CM Bhupesh Baghel too was unhappy with the Markam's list that also ruffled many feathers within the Congress.

Speculation is rife for the past few weeks over the likely appointment of new state Congress chief in which young tribal face Baij remained as the frontrunner for the post.

Baij, who does not have an extensive political experience to run an organisation, is also cited as a close confidant of Baghel. Before becoming the MP in 2019, Baij was an MLA.

The senior party leaders maintained that Markam has been removed by the top leadership since his tenure as the PCC chief was already over. But there were reports of some wrangling between the government and the party organisation.

The Congress hopes a tribal leader replaces another will not add to the arsenal of the opposition BJP.

Developing religious, heritage tourism

Assam is focusing on developing religious and heritage tourism to attract tourists. Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma said state does not have modern infrastructure for tourism and if it wants to promote this sector, it will have to develop its religious and heritage sites. He said the tourist footfall has increased and the government wants to increase it further. "We have taken up Rang Ghar (house of entertainment). I will visit Talatal Ghar (underground palace and military base) the next time I go to Sivasagar. We have to do something there. We are also thinking of the Kamakhya corridor," Sarma said.

Prices of vegetables go through the roof

The recent first wave of the floods in Assam was not massive but the prices of green vegetables have skyrocketed across the state, particularly in Guwahati. Most vegetables are being sold at ₹80-100 a kg here. The prices of green chillies, tomatoes and ginger have gone through the roof. Green chillies are being sold at ₹300 a kg, tomato at ₹120 and ginger at ₹250-280. The prices of vegetables in Guwahati are normally higher than that of other cities. Residents say the wholesalers and retailers increased prices arbitrarily. Government officials warned retailers against doing so.

CM asked to spend money 'judiciously'

The Assam Jatiya Parishad has advised CM Himanta Biswa Sarma to judiciously use funds from the state exchequer. The party said it is unnecessary for a state, which is struggling financially and running the affairs with loans, to demolish government buildings and renovate them. The party warned that if such activities continued, Assam would go bankrupt. The government has demolished some buildings in Guwahati to rebuild them and has plans to rebuild some others. It has plans to shift the Gauhati High Court from its current location in Guwahati to North Guwahati. Recently, hundreds of lawyers staged a protest against this move.

Cong alleges graft in Patwari recruitment exam in MP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

WITH seven out of ten toppers of the Patwari recruitment test having appeared in the exam at a college owned by a ruling BJP MLA Sanjiv Kushwah in Gwalior district, the opposition Congress and AAP have alleged massive scam in the MP government's test held in March-April 2023.

Importantly, the Bhopal headquartered Employee Selection Board-ESB (earlier named VYAPAM) had conducted examinations for 8,600-plus posts like Patwari (Patwari is an important officer of revenue department) in March-April 2023.

Seven toppers had appeared in the NRI College of Engineering and Management in Gwalior, run by the BJP MLA. At least two candidates have alleged huge difference between marks shown on the computer screen immediately after taking the test and the final results declared around two and half months later. Denying the opposition parties' allegations of irregularities in the recruitment test at the exam centre, Kushwah said, "The allegations are baseless and just politically motivated."

Shinde, Ajit men to meet Shah as Maha rift over key portfolios deepens

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

A tug-of-war continues between Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena and deputy chief minister Ajit Pawar-led NCP over allocations of key portfolios such as finance, urban development department, cooperation, irrigation and agriculture. Both sides have decided to meet Union minister Amit Shah to resolve the issue.

Sources said Shinde has refused to concede the key portfolios to NCP ministers, including Ajit Pawar, arguing that it will reduce his importance in the government.

"Shinde has conveyed to the BJP leadership that unless Shiv Sena MLAs are sworn in, he will not allocate the portfolios to the NCP ministers. Shinde fears that after the allocation of portfolios to the NCP ministers, the BJP may not allow him a further cabinet expansion.

"Shinde plans to meet top BJP leaders in Delhi," said a source. Another senior minister said the BJP has conveyed it will be reluctant to induct Shiv Sena MLA Bharat Gogawale and Sanjay Shirsat into the cabinet. "Shinde told the BJP leadership that if these two faces -- Gogawale and Shirsat - are not inducted, then he will have a tough time to keep the flock together.

Most of the Shiv Sena MLAs of Shinde factions already started extending olive branches to Uddhav Thackeray and opening the communications line.

If a significant number of Shiv Sena MLAs joins Uddhav Thackeray, then Shinde's CM chair will be in trouble and his party will also face another split.

This can damage the BJP. "Therefore BJP needs to stand by him," said a Shiv Sena minister. Sunil Tatkare, the state NCP chief (Ajit Pawar faction) said that there is no dispute over allocations of ministries.

Ex-royal family scion among 2 Gujarat BJP nominees for RS

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA @ Ahmedabad

ENDING intense speculation over its candidates for two Rajya Sabha seats, the Gujarat BJP on Wednesday announced the candidatures of Babu Desai (Babu Maktupur) and Kesridevsinh Jhala. The party decision came a day ahead of the deadline for submitting Rajya Sabha papers.

Babu Desai is a former party MLA and OBC leader noted for his donation at the famous Dwarkadhis temple. Jhala is a member of the Vankaner royal Rajput dynasty from Saurashtra.

The party has already announced External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar's candidature for one of the three seats falling vacant in the state.

Until two days ago, the state unit was undecided about the two nominations, triggering speculation in Gujarat politics. The polls are due on July 24.

While S Jaishankar filed his candidature on July 10. Jaishankar's term as a Gujarat MP ends on August 18. Along with Jaishankar's, the terms of two BJP MPs – Dineshchandra Jemalbhai Anavadiya and Lokhandwala Jugalsinh Mathurji – will also end on the day.

On Wednesday, Kesridevsinh Jhala and Babubhai Desai, accompanied by Gujarat Chief Minister Bhupendra Patel and state BJP chief CR Paatil, handed over their forms to the returning officer Rita Mehta at the state assembly secretariat.

Kesridevsinh Jhala is the son of Digvijaysinh Jhala, the late Congress politician and former Union environment minister. He is a member of the royal Rajput family of Vankaner in Saurashtra. In 2011, he was the official in charge of the BJP taluka panchayat and the zilla panchayat in Wankaner Taluka. He has been a member of the BJP for many years.

Desai is a former MLA from Kankrej (between 2007 to 2012) in the Banaskantha district of North Gujarat. He belongs to the 'Maldhari' (cattle rearing) community. He was a big donor to the Dwarkadhish temple.

Elections for three Rajya Sabha seats, planned for July 24, will be mostly one-sided in Gujarat, as the Congress has decided not to field candidates, citing a lack of numbers.

According to a notification, nominations must be submitted by July 13, while nominations could be withdrawn by July 17. Depending on the circumstances, the voting will take place on July 24.

Currently, the BJP has eight of Gujarat's 11 Rajya Sabha seats, while the Congress holds the rest. The BJP won a record 156 seats in the Gujarat Assembly election in 2022.

CAG: 57% of investment was made in companies that went under loss

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE returns from companies, invested in by the government, shot up from a negligible Rs 80.70 crore in 2020-21 to Rs 349.77 crore in the next financial year. But of the total investment of Rs 42,194.32 crore, 57 per cent was made in companies that went under loss, stated the Comptroller and Accountant-General (CAG) in its report for the financial year 2021-22.

The audit report showed that of the 1,208 projects that were still incomplete as on March 31, 2022, 60 per cent had been going on for the past over 36 months.

It stated that the state government should give priority to education and health sectors, as the ratio of expenditure as compared to the total spending was lesser than some of the neighbouring states.

The CAG noted that during 2021-22, against the total provision of Rs 2,93,185.31 crore, Rs 2,82,335.70 crore was spent, while Rs 10,849.61 crore remained unspent. Of this amount, only Rs 5,998.67 crore, or 55 per cent, was surrendered, while the balance 45 per cent was not.

It noted that 68 executive orders were issued for incurring an additional expenditure of Rs 8,489.40 crore without getting the approval of the legislature. These executive orders were later regularised through supplementary demands. Supplementary provisions of Rs 385.04 crore in nine cases were unnecessary, while Rs 12,245.37 crore in 30 cases were excessive. Reappropriation of funds in 51 cases was made injudiciously. With this, the funds remained either unutilised or were spent in excess of the provision, it stated.

A review of abstract contingent bills of two major heads showed that apart from delays in submission of NDC bills, there were instances of withdrawal of funds through bills to avoid the lapse of budgetary grants, submission of inadmissible vouchers, splitting of bills etc. Twenty-one departments had not furnished information relating to institutions to which grants of Rs 25 lakh or more were made.

It stated that there were 125 state public sector enterprises as of March 31 2022. Of these, 54 had accumulated losses. Among them, 34 SPSEs had completely eroded their networth, which was either zero or in the negative.

New norms for teaching languages, math in UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IN order to minimise the adverse impact of Covid-19 on children's learning processes and to help them develop grade-appropriate competency, the UP government is working on making primary class students, especially 4th and 5th standard students, proficient in main subjects, including language and mathematics.

The State Basic Education Department has issued instructions to the teaching staff on conducting teaching activities in the classrooms in accordance with the directory created by the state project office.

Two teachers, each in class 4 and class 5 of council schools, have been trained by Pratham Education Foundation, the body working to improve the education standard in the country.

According to Director General of School Education Vijay Kiran Anand, the Basic Education Department is engaged in a number of initiatives to reduce the adverse impact of the pandemic on children's teaching-learning processes as there was a gap in classroom teaching and learning during the lockdown periods.

Teachers directed to conduct teaching activities as per state's directory | PTI FILE

The department has roped in various institutions and agencies to implement several programmes for the betterment of students.

The State Project Office has made the directory for teaching language and mathematics in classes IV and V for the district teachers. "The teaching of language and mathematics in classes IV and V has to be as per the guidelines so that the students can be imparted with class-specific competencies," said a government spokesman.

According to the directory, one hour of activities for teaching language and one hour of activities for teaching mathematics should be held, respectively.

During this period, children should be divided into groups for language and mathematics on the basis of their present learning level, and group-wise teaching work should also be done.

Moreover, teachers are expected to make a group progress chart as per the requirement of teaching by determining the basic and advanced groups of language and mathematics subjects for all the children in classes four and five. Teaching work should be done by one teacher each in the basic group and the advanced group.

As per the guidelines, after conducting activities for four weeks, revision of the lessons taught should be done in the subsequent week. Foundational Literacy and Numeracy (FLN)-based activities in classes IV and V should be monitored under the collaborative supervision of State Reference Group (SRG), Academic Resources Person (ARP), and Diet Mentor.

Reducing Covid impact

According to Director General of School Education Vijay Kiran Anand, the Basic Education Department is engaged in initiatives to reduce the adverse impact of the pandemic on children's teaching-learning processes as there was a gap in classroom teaching and learning during the lockdown periods. The department roped in institutions to implement programmes for the betterment of students.

G7 vows long-term arms supplies to help Ukraine

VILNIUS

G7 nations on Wednesday pledged to offer "enduring" military support to Ukraine to help it fight Russia's invading forces and stop any repeat of the war once it ends.

"We will each work with Ukraine on specific, bilateral, long-term security commitments and arrangements towards ensuring a sustainable force capable of defending Ukraine now and deterring Russian aggression in the future," the G7 said.

Ukraine's international backers are looking to reassure Kyiv on their support after military alliance NATO refused to offer the war-torn country an invitation to become a member. The group of seven leading democracies — the United States, Britain, France, Germany, Italy, Canada and Japan — said they would look to agree on providing Ukraine's forces with "modern military equipment, across land, air, and sea domains". That would mean "prioritising air defence, artillery and long-range fires, armoured vehicles, and other key capabilities, such as combat air," the statement said. The global powers said that they would offer to provide swift military and financial assistance to Ukraine "in the event of future Russian armed attack". AFP

Terrorists storm Pak Army base, kill four soldiers

ISLAMABAD

HEAVILY-ARMED terrorists attacked an army garrison in Pakistan's restive Balochistan province in the early hours of Wednesday, killing at least four soldiers and wounding five others, the army said.

A group of terrorists launched a "dastardly attack" on Zhob Garrison in the north of the province, leading to clashes in which three militants were also killed, the Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) - the media wing of the army- said in a statement.

The intense shootout also resulted in the death of a female passerby and left five other civilians injured, it added.

A little known militant group — Tehreek-e-Jihad Pakistan — claimed responsibility for the attack in a statement, without providing any details.

An initial attempt of terrorists to sneak into the facility was countered by soldiers on duty and in the ensuing heavy exchange of fire, terrorists were contained into a small area at the boundary.

"A clearance operation by Security Forces is underway to apprehend remaining two terrorists as well," the statement said, adding that the security forces were determined to thwart all such "ghastly attempts at destroying peace" in Balochistan.

Balochistan Chief Minister Mir Abdul Qudoos Bizenjo condemned the attack on the Zhob garrison and paid tribute to the Pakistan Army for thwarting it by taking swift action.

He offered his condolences to the families of the dead and said that "Pakistan Army is the guarantor of peace and security in the region."

Pakistan has been facing an uptick in attacks by the outlawed Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan and Baloch separatists in Balochistan and Khyber Pakhtunkhwa provinces.

Balochistan province has experienced a surge in violent incidents in recent months, including bombings and targeted attacks, leading to heightened security measures and public safety concerns.

Earlier this month, four security personnel lost their lives while a terrorist was killed after attacks by the rebels in the Dhana Sar area of Balochistan.

Bali to impose $10 tourist e-tax from 2024

Jakarta: The Indonesian resort haven of Bali will impose a $10 tax on tourists entering the island from next year to preserve its culture, officials said. "The payment of a fee for foreign tourists applies only one time during their visit to Bali," Governor I Wayan Koster said. The fee will have to be paid electronically and will apply to foreign tourists. The levy will not apply to Indonesian tourists.

US state to ban most abortions after 6 weeks

Des Moines: Iowa's Republican-led Legislature passed a Bill banning most abortions after roughly six weeks of pregnancy during a marathon special session Tuesday that continued late into the night. Governor Kim Reynolds immediately said in a statement she would sign Friday. Abortion is currently legal in Iowa up to 20 weeks of pregnancy. The law will take immediate effect.

TCS net profit up 17%, beats estimates

Net profit at ₹11,074 crore as against analysts' prediction of about ₹10,890 crore; sequentially profit down 2.8%

UMA KANNAN @ Bengaluru

THE country's largest IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) on Wednesday reported a 16.8% increase in consolidated net profit at ₹11,074 crore for the quarter ended June 30, 2023.

The net profit beats Street estimates as analysts had predicted it to be about ₹10,890 crore. However, sequentially the net profit was down 2.8%. The company's net profit stood at ₹11,392 crore in the quarter ended March 2023. Its revenue for the first quarter stood at ₹59,381 crore, a 12.6% increase as compared to ₹52,758 crore in the same quarter last year. K Krithivasan, CEO and MD, TCS said, "Technology spend in the long-term is likely to be strong and that is validated by the TCV (total contract value) we have in multiple verticals and geographies. Our pipeline remains strong and our clients continue to invest in technology, but there is near-term softness because of uncertainty."

TCS operating margin for the June quarter stood at 23.2%, an expansion of 10 basis points y-o-y. The company's order book stood at $10.2 billion. The company clarified that the TCV does not include the BSNL opportunity. TCS also said it is proactively building differentiating capabilities in generative AI and actively working on projects with its clients, delivering impact on technology, operations and client experience dimensions. Samir Seksaria, chief financial officer, said 26-28% remains their aspirational margin band, and that they will claw back on margins.

Among major markets, the UK led with 16.1% growth, North America grew 4.6% and Continental Europe grew 3.4%. The company's growth was led by life sciences and healthcare, which grew 10.1%, the manufacturing vertical grew 9.4% and BFSI grew 3%. The company has announced Rs 9 dividend per share.

N Ganapathy Subramaniam, COO and ED, said: "Our products and platforms achieved major milestones during the quarter with several transformational engagements going live. In the UK Life and Pensions administration space, we signed three new deals on our digital insurance platform."

TCS rolls out salary hike; says will honour offers, delays due to biz environment

40K freshers will be onboarded this fiscal

TCS has been postponing the onboarding of lateral hires by 3 months now and Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate (NITES) has registered a complaint with labour ministry regarding delay of onboarding over 200 lateral recruits. Milind Lakkad, chief HR officer, said in a press conference 40,000 freshers will be onboarded this fiscal

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

TCS on Wednesday said it will honour all offers that it has made. "There are certain delays because of the environment we are in because of the project delays," Milind Lakkad, Chief HR Officer, TCS said.

He added that in certain cases onboarding is getting delayed due to project delays. "I commit today that we are going to honour all offers," he said. TCS has been postponing the onboarding of lateral hires by three months now and Nascent Information Technology Employees Senate (NITES) has registered a complaint with the Ministry of Labour regarding the delay of onboarding over 200 lateral recruits.

Lakkad said in a press conference that 40,000 freshers will be onboarded this fiscal, but how it will be spread over the year remains to be seen. The company has recruited 523 employees in the first quarter of this fiscal. It has also commenced the promotion cycle.

He also said the company's Return to Office initiative is picking pace, with 55% of the workforce already in office thrice a week. "We have given a 12-15% raise for exceptional performers in our latest annual compensation review. TCSers logged 12.7 million learning hours in upskilling themselves during the quarter in market relevant skills like generative AI, cloud, data and analytics."

The chief HR officer said 70% of employees will receive 100% variable pay. The rest -30% will get it based on business performance. Total workforce strength stood at 615,318, and women in workforce as of June 2023 end is 35.8%. Its LTM IT services attrition rate stood at 17.8%. "Our attrition continues to trend down and we expect it to be back in our industry-leading, long-term range in second half of the year," he added.

Samir Seksaria, Chief Financial Officer, TCS said, "We have gone ahead and rolled out our annual salary increase with effect from April 1. Our operating margin of 23.2% reflects the 200-bps impact of this hike, offset through improved efficiencies." TCS said clients continue to invest in building a strong cloud foundation for business innovation. Cloud migration, data modernisation and application modernisation coupled with new digital technologies such as AI continue to drive growth.

Utility vehicles expected to see price increase after 2% rise in cess

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

PRICES of MPV (multi-purpose vehicle) and multi-utility vehicles (MUVs), which are above four meters are expected to go up by 2% as GST Council increases cess on these vehicles by 2% from current 20% to 22%.

Some of the models which may see a price hike include Maruti Suzuki's recently launched Invicto and Toyota's Innova Crysta and Hycross Petrol.

We await the official notification related to this change. Once received, we will approach the certification agency for recertification of the relevant models, based on updated definition

M&M spokesperson

The GST Council in its recent meeting announced including all Utility Vehicles, be it SUV, MUV or MPV under one compensation cess bracket of 22%. The council has defined that all vehicles that measure more than 4000mm in length, have an engine displacement of more than 1,500cc, and with a ground clearance of 170mm or more will attract a 22% compensation cess over and above 28% GST. Shashank Srivastava, Senior Executive Officer (Marketing and Sales) at Maruti Suzuki India, said that the decision clarifies the definition of vehicles attracting highest cess, especially with the ground clearance parameter included. He added that a price hike is unlikely to impact them as they have only Invicto MPV, which was launched last week, that meets all three criteria.

Many carmakers are now waiting for the fine print of the announcement to see which models in their line-up will be impacted.

Swapnesh Maru, Executive Vice President and Chief Compliance Officer at Toyota Kirloskar Motor, said, that they will wait for the notification to understand the details before assessing the impact. A Mahindra & Mahindra spokesperson said, "The change relates to a recategorisation of GST rate, based on unladen ground clearance, versus the current laden ground clearance criterion. We await the official notification related to this change, which should also include the definition of unladen ground clearance and process to measure the same. Once received, we will approach the certification agency for potential recertification of the relevant models, based on the updated definition, if necessary."

Companies raise ₹10,000 cr via IPO in last 3 months

SACHIN KUMAR @ Mumbai

WITH stock market rallying over 6,000 points in the past three months, the action is back in the primary market.

Companies have raised over ₹10,000 crore from the primary market through Initial Public Offerings (IPO) in the past three months. Equity benchmark Sensex has risen from 58,991 at the start of April to 65,393 now, reflecting a rise of 6,400 points or 11%.

The number of IPOs hitting the market has also increased during this period. April saw two IPOs (Mankind Pharma was one of them) while just one company came launched its public issue in May. However, the tide turned in June when four companies launched IPOs. July is also going to be busy for the primary market as Senco Gold, Utkarsh Small Finance Bank and Netweb Technologies have lined up their IPOs in this month.

"We did not plan to launch IPO in the rising stock market, it is just our good luck. We got approval from the Sebi for the IPO in July last year and after that we had 12 months to launch the public issue. We wanted to complete the IPO process with in the stipulated time. It is just a coincidence that stock market is moving northwards when we launched our IPO," Sanjay Banka, Chief Financial Officer, Senco Gold told TNIE. "The strong response from the investor reflects their trust on company's unique value proposition, robust business model and transparency.

While the company did not aim to time the market, launching IPO during this time has helped to get good response from the investors. Retail investors subscribed to the IPO 15.46 times, while non-institutional investors showed overwhelming interest with a subscription of 65 times. Other IPOs have received good response from the investors.

HCLTech misses estimates; defers salary hikes

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

HCLTech on Wednesday missed Street estimates and reported a 7.6% rise in its consolidated net profit for June quarter at ₹3,531 crore as against ₹3,281 crore in the year-ago period.

Revenue from operations in June quarter stood at ₹26,296 crore, down 12% sequentially and up 12.1% year-on-year (YoY). HCLTech announced it will defer salary hikes for employees. Ramachandran Sundararajan, chief people officer, HCLTech, said, "This time of the year it makes announcements on pay reviews. In the past couple of years, the hiring that we have done and the compensation revision that we have done...taking that into consideration, the company has taken a decision to defer annual reviews by a quarter," he said.

Infosys too has deferred salary hikes for its employees that is due for June quarter.

C Vijayakumar, CEO and MD, HCLTech, said, "In Q1FY24, our revenue and people strength sequentially moderated in line with demand environment. We experience double-digit growth in our largest verticals - financial services, manufacturing and life sciences and healthcare."

Delta Corp, Nazara shares crash after GST hike on online gaming, casinos

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

SHARES of Delta Corp and Nazara Technologies cracked up to 28% on the BSE in Wednesday's intra-day trade after the Goods and Services Tax (GST) Council on Tuesday approved the imposition of a uniform 28% tax on online gaming, casinos, and horse racing.

Delta Corp shares opened at a 10% lower circuit of ₹222.15 apiece on the BSE, but then continued its downfall to hit an intraday low of ₹178.20 apiece. Delta Corp closed 23% lower at ₹189 a piece. Nazara shares opened 14% lowest at ₹605 apiece but recovered later to close at 688, down 3% from its previous day's closing.

Gouri Puri, Partner, Shardul Amarchand Mangaldas & Co said: "This is a major setback to the online gaming industry. Taxing the prize pool at 28 per cent may impact gaming volumes and viability of gaming companies that were up until now growing impressively. This sends mixed signals to investors, considering that recent policy changes to regulate the online gaming industry had recognised its separate status and economic potential." In a stock exchange filing, Nazara Technologies clarified that this tax, once implemented, will apply only to the skill-based real money gaming segment of its business. The contribution of this segment to the company's overall consolidated revenues for the financial year FY23 was 5.2%. "To the extent required, the company will proactively take steps to mitigate any potential impact to this segment of our business, and we anticipate minimal impact to our overall revenues," Nazara Technologies said.

Ajay Singh will infuse ₹500 cr, says SpiceJet

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AJAY SINGH, the promoter of cash-strapped SpiceJet, has decided to infuse ₹500 Crore into the airline by way of subscribing fresh equity shares and/or convertible instruments, said the company in a statement on Wednesday.

The infusion of fresh capital, as per SpiceJet will strengthen the company's financial position and is a powerful vote of confidence in its future and long-term viability.

"The Board of Directors of the company, which met on July 12, 2023, considered options for raising fresh capital for the company where Ajay Singh, promoter of the company, in order to strengthen the financial position of the company, offered to infuse ₹500 crore," said Spicejet. With this fund infusion by the Promoter, SpiceJet would be entitled to additional credit facilities of INR 206 Crore under the Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme.

Ajay Singh, Chairman and MD, SpiceJet said, "This investment will allow the airline to accelerate its growth plans and capture new opportunities in the market, grow its revenue and profits."

It is already utilising $50 million ECLGS funds that it has received and its own cash to revive its grounded aircraft.

'Vedanta will foray into chip making this year'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

VEDANTA will foray into semiconductor and display fab this year after it receives government approvals, said chairman of Vedanta ltd Anil Agarwal.

Agarwal, while addressing shareholders during the 58th General Annual meeting also mentioned that the company has lined up partners for its semiconductor venture.

"This year, subject to government approvals, your company will begin a historic foray into semiconductor fab and display fab. This will open a new avenue of rapid growth for the company in a sector that is strategic for the country," said Agarwal. Its ambitious project to venture into semiconductor manufacturing faced a setback as Taiwanese electronics giant Foxconn pulled out from a joint venture with Vedanta Ltd.

The joint venture, formed in September 2022, announced plans to invest $19.5 billion to set up semiconductor and display production plants in Gujarat. However, the company decided to proceed with their plans to set up a fab in India with another partner.

"Huge opportunity lies in the electronics sector. India imports $100 billion worth of electronics every year, of which about $30 billion is on semiconductor and display glass. ," said Agarwal.

Torres joins Aston Villa from Villarreal

Spain defender Pau Torres is linking up again with Unai Emery, this time in England with Aston Villa. Torres, a 26-year-old left-sided center back, played under Emery at Villarreal, the player's hometown club where he has been in the senior team since 2017. Together, they won the Europa League in 2021 and reached the Champions League semifinals a year later.

Trial dates out but not criteria

Asiad selection trials on July 22 & 23, the ad-hoc panel's incomplete move irks other wrestlers as they plan to launch a stir if protesting grapplers given undue advantage

FIROZ MIRZA @Chennai

WITH each passing day, the ad hoc committee handling day-to-day affairs of the Wrestling Federation of India seems to be raising more questions than answers as far as selection trials for Asian Games are concerned. With only 11 days remaining for sending final entries for the quadrennial event, the panel on Wednesday announced the dates for trials but mysteriously preferred to hold back the criteria to select wrestlers.

The panel members Bhupender Singh Bajwa and Suma Shirur along with technical experts — Gian Singh and Ashok Garg — had a meeting on Wednesday and decided to organise the trials on July 22 and 23. It is understood that the trials for men Greco-Roman and women wrestlers will be held on the first day followed by the trials in the men's freestyle the next day. The venue will be Kedar Jadhav Hall at IG Stadium in New Delhi.

As has been made clear by the wrestlers, who had protested against the WFI chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh, they are unlikely to compete this month as they wanted trials to be held in August. Hoping their requests would be entertained, they had even left the country to get back into competition mode. Bajrang Punia along with his sparring partner Jitender Kinha had left for Kyrgyzstan, Vinesh Phogat along with Bajrang's wife Sangeeta Phogat had gone to Budapest while Sakshi Malik and her husband Satyawart Kadian had flown to USA. All these six wrestlers had been the face of the historic protest.

"These wrestlers will be communicated the decision. If they wish, they can come back and compete in the trials," a source in the know of things told this daily. However, sources claimed that the panel is almost sure that the wrestlers may not be able to compete and that he panel is now trying to set criteria that would enable the wrestlers to be included in the team. "The panel is deliberating on the issue and will release the criteria soon," added the source. It is also scheduled to meet the sports minister and IOA president on Thursday, added the source.

Resentment among wrestlers and meeting

Other wrestlers, who are expected to compete, are seemingly unhappy with the delay in announcing the criteria and sources confirmed to this daily that more than 100 women wrestlers and their parents are expected to meet at Chhotu Ram Stadium in Rohtak, Haryana. "We know what's going on but let them decide then only we will make our plans public. In the meantime, we will meet tomorrow at the stadium to chalk out future strategies. Our family members will also gather at the place," said a wrestler.

It is learnt that these wrestlers are against any concession to those who had staged a protest. "If protest yields favours then even we will protest. This time the strength of protesters will be in hundreds. We may approach the court as well. We will not hesitate to meet the panel member, sports minister, Sports Authority of India officials and even the Prime Minister," said one of the wrestling coaches.

Coaches and wrestlers say no to two trials

Sources also said that the panel is trying to find a way to keep everyone happy and are looking at the possibility of protesting wrestlers skipping the Asian Games and compete at the World Championships trials. The Worlds is also a qualifier for the 2024 Olympics. It is learnt that the last date for sending entries for the Worlds is August 16, which looks suitable for the protesting wrestlers. "This can be one of the reasons for not releasing the criteria but we want one trials for the Asian Games and Worlds. Those appearing in two trials have to cut weight twice and compete in more bouts. Besides, the recovery process takes at least 10 days. There is very little time now. So there is no logic in holding two trials in a span of less than one month," said another source.

No trials for Olympic & Worlds medallists?

Another option that apparently is being mulled is to exempt current Olympic and Worlds medallist from the trials. If the proposal is accepted then three grapplers — Ravi Dahiya, Bajrang and Vinesh — can automatically qualify in their respective weight categories. Bajrang had won 65kg bronze in 2022 Worlds after winning the same medal in the Tokyo Olympics in 2021. Vinesh had won bronze at the last World Championships. Ravi clinched silver at the Olympics.

"The exemption will deprive others who have been winning medals in these weight categories at the national and international level in the last one-and-a-half-year," said a senior coach. "This will be a gross injustice to them. It should not happen otherwise the panel will face a huge backlash."

The Worlds will see participation of wrestlers in 10 weight categories, competitions will be held in only six weight categories in each style — men freestyle and Greco-Roman and women wrestling — taking the total divisions to 18.

Ace off-spinner R Ashwin (left) celebrates with his teammates on the opening day of the first Test against West Indies in Dominica on Wednesday | AFP

Ashwin takes four as WI collapse on Day 1

AGENCIES @Roseau (Dominica)

R ASHWIN showed his class once again taking four wickets on Day on of the first Test against West Indies as the hosts collapsed to 137/8 (at the time of going to print) at tea here on Wednesday.

Shardul Thakur (1/15), operating as the third seamer in overseas conditions for the first time, continued with his happy knack of picking wickets, while Ravindra Jadeja (2/24) also found his name in wickets column due to a magnificent catch by Mohammed Siraj to dismiss Jermaine Blackwood (14). At the time of going to print, Rahkeem Cornwall (8 batting) was at the crease along with Kemar Roach at the other end.

Opting to bat first, West Indies openers Tagenarine Chanderpaul (12, 44 balls) and Kraigg Brathwaite (20 off 46 balls) went into a shell during the first hour as both Siraj (0/17 in 8 overs) and Jaydev Unadkat (0/7 in 5 overs) settled down to a nice fuller Test match length, beating the outside edge of both openers on multiple occasions.

The pressure created by the pace duo did reap dividends as Ashwin slowed the pace of his deliveries, used the available drift to a good advantage to make life uncomfortable for the two openers.

India handed debut caps to 21-year-old left-handed opener Yashasvi Jaiswal and wicket-keeper batter Ishan Kishan while local man Alick Athanaze will play his maiden Test for the home team.

Brief scores (at tea): West Indies 137/8 in 58 ovs (Athanaze 47, Brathwaite 20; Ashwin 4/49) vs India.

Shah, Ashraf finalise Asia Cup schedule in Durban

AGENCIES @New Delhi

THE much anticipated Asia Cup games between India and Pakistan will be held in Sri Lanka as agreed upon by the previous dispensation of host PCB, IPL chairman Arun Dhumal confirmed on Wednesday.

Dhumal, who is in Durban for the ICC Chief Executives Meet (CEC), informed that BCCI secretary Jay Shah and new PCB management committee chairman Zaka Ashraf met ahead of ICC Board meeting on Thursday to finalise the Asia Cup schedule. Ashraf, who took charge earlier this month, had expressed his displeasure over the hybrid model accepted by the previous regime under Najam Sethi. PCB has the hosting rights for the tournament to be held in Pakistan and Sri Lanka from August 31-September 17.

"Our secretary met PCB head Zaka Ashraf and the Asia Cup schedule was finalised and it is on course as it was discussed earlier. There will be four games of league stage in Pakistan, followed by 9 games in Sri Lanka including both India versus Pakistan game and a third game if both teams reach the final," Dhumal told PTI. Dhumal rubbished reports emerging from Pakistan media that India will travel to the neighbouring country as its sports minister Ehsan Mazari had been claiming.

Abhishek Pal wins 10,000m bronze at Asian athletics meet

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

THERE was disappointment in women's javelin. Annu Rani, who won medals at the last two editions of the Asian Athletics Championships, finished fourth with a throw of 59.10m. However, long distance runner Abhishek Pal brought some cheers to the India camp after he managed to secure bronze in 10,000m in 29:33.36s.

According to an AFI statement, the competitors battled hot and humid conditions during the men's 25-lap race. Japan's Ren Tazawa took the pole position and eventually won gold with a time of 29:18.44s. Kazakhstan's Shadrack Kimutai Koech took home silver with a time of 29:31.63 seconds. Interestingly, the 25-year-old Indian runner finished seventh at Doha meet four years ago. India's Pal and his compatriot Gulveer Singh were behind the leading runners for almost the entire race. Pal made a surge in the last lap and overtook tiring Japanese runner Yuto Imae, who was fourth, to cross the finish third. Annu finished behind Japan's Marina Saito (61.67m), Liu Shiying (61.51m) and Nadeesha Dilhani (60.93m). In women's 1500m, India's Lili Das finished seventh with a time of 4:27.61. In decathlon, Tejaswin Shankar was leading the field on day-one with 4124 points.

Alcaraz enters first Wimbledon semis, faces Medvedev next

AGENCIES @London

CARLOS ALCARAZ saw off Holger Rune in straight sets on Wednesday to stay on course for a Wimbledon title showdown against defending champion Novak Djokovic.

The top seed won the key moments during the quarter-final on Centre Court to progress 7-6 (7/3), 6-4, 6-4 and will play Russian third seed Daniil Medvedev in the semi-finals.

The Spaniard faced just one break point in the entire match, which he snuffed out, hitting 35 winners against 13 unforced errors. "Honestly, it is amazing for me," said Alcaraz after beating his friend. "It's been a dream since I started playing tennis." The US Open champion, who now has 10 straight wins on grass, was delighted with his performance against his fellow 20-year-old. "I am playing at a great level. I didn't expect to play a great level on this surface," he said. "For me, it is crazy." He said he found it tough at the beginning of the match, especially with Rune on the other side of the net. "But once you get into the quarter-finals there's no friends," he added. "You have to be focused on yourself and I think I did great in that part." There was just a single break point created in the first set, which almost inevitably went to a tie-break.

UTT will give us quality match practice, says Sharath

AGENCIES @Pune

VETERAN Indian table tennis player Sharath Kamal on Wednesday that the fourth edition of the Ultimate Table Tennis beginning Thursday would help the players get quality match practice ahead of the Hangzhou Asian Games in September.

The league returns after a gap of four years with the previous winner Chennai Lions taking on Puneri Paltan in the season-opener. "UTT is back after a break of four years. We had some good seasons and experiences. This year we hope to see some really good table tennis," Sharath said here at the pre-tournament media conference on Wednesday. "A lot of young players get a chance to be a part of this journey. UTT has helped us gain the confidence and exposure which we require at the international level," he said.

Sharath said while the preparations for the Asian Games has already started, the UTT will bring about quality build-up to the continental event. 'The league is a part of the whole program that goes on in every players' run-up to, let's say, the Asian Games and Olympics. What keeps you motivated' is that I am able to compete at the highest level and I am able to keep my fitness and mental conditioning at that level, which requires a certain number of processes, which I still enjoy."

Bowlers put West Zone in command

AGENCIES @Bengaluru

THE relentless West Zone bowlers left South Zone on a fragile terrain at 182 for seven on the opening day of the Duleep Trophy final here on Wednesday. Fielding by choice, West never let the advantage slip on a largely overcast day that was eventually called off a few minutes into the extended session due to poor light.

Captain Hanuma Vihari offered a lone battle while making 63 off 130 balls for South. But the conditions meant that one player's heroics would not suffice. Even though they were operating in a favourable space, West Zone pacers Arzan Nagwaswalla, Chintan Gaja and Atit Sheth should be lauded for maintaining a tight leash on South batting. They moved the ball quite appreciably to keep Mayank Agarwal and R Samarth, the South openers, cautious. The first wicket did not take long to come, though it was more the result of the batter's gaffe. Brief scores: South 182/7 in 65 ovs (Tilak 40, Vihari 63; Mulani 2/19) vs West Zone.

Indian artistic gymnastics squad announced for Asiad

TANMAY DAS @Bhubaneswar

NINE gymnasts, including four women, got selected for the Indian team for the upcoming Asian Games after two days of GFI Artistic Gymnastics Selection Trials here. In the men's senior individual category, Yogeshwar Singh from Haryana, Rakesh Patra and Tapan Mohanty, both from Odisha, bagged the top three spots.

Women's senior individual category saw Dipa Karmakar finish first, followed by Pranati Das and Pranati Nayak. One of the favourites heading into the contest, Dipa Karmakar, was the stand-out performer in her category. "I have given my best here and I am looking forward to getting better from here. I am always committed to giving a hundred percent," Karmakar said about her performance.

Bishweshwar Nandi, ace Indian gymnastics coach, lauded her comeback. "It is not easy to come back after injury and perform well. We had to be cautious with our approach, but we are very pleased with the result," the coach said. "In her favorite vault event, she performed Tsukahara 360-degree front and back and I am confident she will improve more before Asian Games.

Ganemat misses final berth by a point

Lonato (Italy): India's Ganemat Sekhon shot a perfect round of 25 but it was not enough to take her to the Women's Skeet final at the ISSF World Cup here. The India number one was left to rue the two rounds of 23 in qualifying as American Dania Jo Vizzi piped her to the sixth and final qualifying spot with a score of 121. It was an American 1-2 as Samantha Simonton and Dania fought it out in the end stages with the latter prevailing 54-50 in the 60-shot final.

Women's World Cup brings attention to abuse in football

ANNE M PETERSON

SINEAD Farrelly wasn't sure she'd ever come back to football.

Farrelly, whose story was at the center of an abuse scandal that rocked women's football in the United States, hadn't played for more than six years before re-embracing the sport this spring.

"I wouldn't have been able to do it unless I was able to get that off my chest and get that story out, because the healing and liberation from that had to occur before I could ever play again," she said.

Now headed to the Women's World Cup with Ireland, Farrelly's presence at the tournament is a testament to her own resilience and healing. But it also underscores the larger realities of sexual, verbal and emotional abuse in women's football and what is being done about it on the global stage.

Allegations of abuse, often sexual, have affected national teams around the world in recent years, including reported cases in Haiti, Venezuela, Zambia, Argentina, Colombia and Afghanistan, where the women's team was disbanded because of Taliban rule.

"The degree of abuse in football, I think, is widely underestimated. And the systems currently are not able to either protect, properly investigate and support ultimately the victims and survivors," FIFPRO General Secretary Jonas Baer-Hoffmann said.

FIFPRO, the global players' union, acknowledges that while important steps have been implemented to protect players, "cases are often only brought to light once they have already reached a tragically high human cost."

Football's global governing body is paying attention. FIFA rolled out a safeguarding program at the under-20 Women's World Cup in Costa Rica last summer, aimed at keeping participants and fans safe from abuse, exploitation and harassment. Games were staffed by a safeguarding official and all participants were briefed about abuse and how to report it.

FIFA will do much the same at the Women's World Cup that starts next week. Among the programs for players, teams and other stakeholders are pre-tournament educational presentations. AP

For the love of Goa!

If you are planning a relaxing and luxurious vacation in Goa, Acacia By The River and The Acacia Morjim should be on your bucket list

Acacia Morjim

SURBHI SHAH

A little unconventional it might be, but an annual trip to Goa is best enjoyed during the monsoon owing to the tranquility of the state during the off-season. And if you are looking forward to a luxurious staycation, there are two lush properties — Acacia By The River villa and Acacia Morjim resort — and we check them out for you.

Our trip started with landing at the state's new Manohar International Airport in Mopa. Making our way through the almost-deserted roads of North Goa, we reached our first destination, Acacia By The River. Located around three kilometres from the Candolim beach, this palatial villa sits on the banks of the Saipem River. With its manicured lawns, Indo-Portuguese interiors, and a private pool overlooking the river, the villa resonates nothing but the sound of a relaxed and luxurious vacation.

As we take in the modest-looking villa from outside, we are greeted by the on-call manager, caretaker, and a private chef! Yes, we have our very own chef. Even though the services are chargeable and advance notice is required to avail of this service, it's worth it. From continental to Indian, from pasta to paneer makhani, the chef can whip up a delicious plate at any time of the day.

After losing count of the number of doors and backdoors this villa has, we went straight to our room to unwind and start our long day of... doing nothing, apart from trying to connect our devices to the complimentary Wi-Fi. The two ensuite bedrooms are separated from the master bedroom by an enormous high-ceilinged living area, which had sofas bigger than our single beds and floor-length windows that open up to the private swimming pool. We, of course, chose the master bedroom, which was a floor above the chandelier-lined dining area.

Capacious with its slim balcony, we could see the sunrise lying on our bed, as a boat full of tourists was passing by the Saipem River and with that, our day at the Acacia By The River ended as we moved up north to Morjim, where we explored another lush resort, but this time it was facing the sea.

Sun, sand and sea

On our way to the next destination, we made a pit stop at The Acacia Hotel & Spa in Candolim. What vacation is complete without a soulful spa session anyway? This property by Acacia is a commercial hotel located in the prime tourist area of Candolim, in contrast to its other two properties, Acacia By The River and The Acacia Morjim.

Located on a cliff with an astounding view of the setting sun and the dancing waves of the Arabian Sea, The Acacia Morjim not only retained the calmness of the villa but also acted as a catalyst for us to get into the Goa mode and finally make efforts to go outside.

The resort has 32 cottages, an infinity pool with a jacuzzi and a multi-cuisine restaurant named Toast. Even though there's an in-house dining option, we recommend walking towards the beach and exploring more vibrant restaurants with varied food options lining up the coast. And you can shop for some pretty beach dresses on your walk back!

After our walk and delicious Goan dinner, we came back to the resort to relax again, taking advantage of the infinity pool and clear skies, we sat stargazing with a drink in our hands, legs dipped in the cool moon-lit water, wondering about this peaceful side of Goa.

THURSDAY

DAY'S DIARY

Martyr day

On this day in 1931, security forces shot to death 22 rioters in Kashmir. After that, July 13 was recognised as a state holiday till 2019

ANTI-AUTOCRACY REVOLT

The riot was triggered by the arrest of Kashmiri sympathiser Abdul Qadeer for delivering a speech against the autocratic Dogra rule, at Khanqah-e-Mullah

HOLIDAY DROPPED

In 2019, months after revoking the special status of occupied Kashmir, the BJP government removed this day from the territory's official holiday list

TRIVIA

Kashmir's history starts from 1846 when Sikh rule ended and the British sold Kashmir to Dogra Maharaja Gulab Singh under the Treaty of Amritsar

THREADING CAUTIOUSLY

The past one week has seen people weaving into Threads, the latest social media app. But B'lureans are still warming up to it with many finding it to be a 'snooze-fest'

TUNIR BISWAS

WITH the launch of the new app Threads, Mark Zuckerberg has essentially launched another shot at Twitter owner Elon Musk as the newly-released social media app is eerily similar to the popular 'bird app'. While, Threads, sister to Instagram, is still very new and is only at its nascent stages, there has been a lot of buzz generated around what the future holds for it and whether it can really compete with Twitter.

Rhea Karuturi, CTO of a city-based startup and an avid Twitter user, is not very keen on Threads yet. "I'm fairly active on Twitter and what I love about it is the active community and the fact that each topic blows up so quickly – it feels like everyone's weighing in on the same topic every day, no matter how quickly that topic changes. I haven't seen that happen with Threads yet – it might be an algorithm difference or the fact that your Threads community is seeded with people you know (from Instagram) whereas I would say 90 per cent of my Twitter community has no real world connection to me," she says adding, "While you do develop a voice and personality on Twitter over time, when a tweet blows up, it's because a lot of strangers relate to it – on Threads, because of its proximity to Instagram, I feel like it has to be more personal because my network already has so much context on me."

On a similar track with Karuturi is GD Prasad, founder of a Bengaluru-based FMCG company. "I'm not sure if brands need to jump on every new shiny toy that comes along. Threads has been getting a lot of attention lately, but people are still trying to figure out what it's all about. Plus, the algorithm on Twitter actually keeps the feed interesting. Threads is a total snooze-fest with people desperately trying to say something just because it's the new cool thing," he shares.

It's not just entrepreneurs and techies but the creators in the city as well, who are struggling to warm up to Threads. Krishna Subramanian, a standup comedian in the city, feels Threads doesn't have its own identity yet. "To me the Threads is just Twitter but with safer sposting. Not all ideas are great but it's great to have an app where you can just post things and see if anything sticks... Because everyone else is doing the same," he says.

The general consensus seems to be this: if you're a fan of Twitter, Threads will not appeal to you. But if you're not a fan of Twitter, even then, Threads won't do anything for you either because of its similarity to Twitter or for sharing the same community with Instagram. Sandhya Sivakumar, a techie in the city, shares an opinion along those lines. "The hype around Threads on Instagram convinced me to install it. But I realised I would be following the same people again on Threads, which meant I would get the same type of content on both the apps with some extra features on Threads that I mostly won't use. I also didn't want Mark (Zuckerberg) to have a new avenue of accessing my personal data," she concludes.

I'm not sure if brands need to jump on every new shiny toy that comes along. Threads has been getting a lot of attention lately, but people are still trying to figure out what it's all about — GD Prasad, entrepreneur

Prabhat Te Sairat, an upcoming audio-visual performance in the city is a tribute to the 100 years of Marathi cinema

HOMAGE TO HISTORY

EXPRESS FEATURES

MUMBAI is not only the financial heart of India, but also the city of dreams for many. While the Hindi film industry has become the de facto mascot for Indian cinema over the decades, the film capital of India got its start with films made by Marathi artistes, who kickstarted the motion picture movement in the early 1910s. An upcoming audio-visual show titled Prabhat Te Sairat on Sunday at the New Horizon Engineering College auditorium in Kadubeesanahalli aims to cherish the rich and often-forgotten history of Marathi cinema and its contribution to Indian cinema, over the past century.

"Everyone is aware that Indian cinema was started by Dadasaheb Phalke with Raja Harischandra in 1913 and later on pioneered by the Prabhat studios. The film movement in India was started in Maharashtra, although they weren't Marathi films since they were silent. But when talkie films started to gain traction, Hindi films became more popular, while Marathi films were obviously limited to Maharashtra," says Milind Oak, director of the Prabhat Te Sairat. "But, like Hindi films, Marathi films have a rich history. A lot of artistes, lyricists, and singers who have garnered pan-India recognition like Lata Mangeshkar and Asha Bhosle were Maharashtrians."

Featuring 80 different songs and dance performances, cherry-picked by different eras of Marathi cinema, from the early years of talkies to the new millennium, Prabhat Te Sairat aims to take audiences on an entertaining historical journey. "Every decade of Marathi cinema was influenced by the cultural and social factors that had promulgated society at that time. The '50s were a time of optimism and truth since India had just gotten its independence. The films of the '60s and '70s expressed disillusionment while the ones in the '80s and '90s sought entertainment. These were turbulent decades in India's history with a lot happening and to watch the films of that era, audiences would have to leave their brains at home. And when the new millennium comes around, technology starts to greatly affect films, the way they are produced and disseminated," adds Oak.

The entire show is performed by less than a half-a-dozen artistes, including singers Jitendra Abhyankar, Chaitanya Kulkarni, Mrunmayee Tirodkar and dancer Kunal Phadke, who don different costumes and roles throughout the show. The highlight of the show is the narration by veteran actor Rahul Solapurkar.

Scholarship and talent recognition ceremony held

Sri Krishna Group of Institutions held a talent recognition ceremony for their second year students on Saturday. Ranked students were awarded across three categories: economically backward, talented and women students. Dr V Ramalingaiah, joint director of the medical education department was the chief guest. Bhagavatam, a book written by Dr Aralumallige Parthasarathy was released by Yathirvara Veer Swamiji of Yadugiri Mutt. Justice Arvind Kumar presided over the event.

Graduation Day held at Oxford College of Engineering

The 18th Graduation Day of Oxford College of Engineering was held recently with Sundar KS, associate vice-president of Infosys, presiding over as chief guest. During the event, Dr N Kannan, the principal, highlighted the institution's accomplishments and recognised the students. The chief guest shared the significance of education and applauded the effort of teachers in shaping students into responsible citizens.

Indie pop singer Sangeetha Rajeev, who launched her latest song Innu Yakka Baralilla at her concert in London, speaks about the song and her goal of making folk music popular

Folksy &Fun

MONIKA MONALISA

IT is always an exciting event for Indie music lovers when singer Sangeetha Rajeev drops a new song, as she did recently. The song Innu Yakka Baralilla, released on July 1 on YouTube and is currently trending with over seven lakh views.

Rajeev did a big reveal of the song at her recently-concluded London concert. The love she got from the audience was something that she still is overwhelmed with. "The love Kannadigas shower on me every time I release a song feels good. So I think the credit goes to them. The fans always know the lyrics of every one of my songs," says an excited Rajeev, from London.

Rajeev tries to bring in a mix of folk and contemporary influences to her music and it is evident in Innu Yakka Baralilla too. "It's a folk song. My idea is to have folk songs mixed with the pop genre because it appeals to the younger audience. These days, people, especially the younger generation, are forgetting the music of yesteryear, the ones that we've been listening to for so many years now. But if you give the same song with a tune that they love, they will listen to it," says Rajeev.

She presents the song Nee Hinga Nodabyada as an example. "It's a folk song but it got the most amount of love from the younger audience. Probably because the song sounded fresh with modern beats," Rajeev says, adding that she hopes to make music that will be at par with K-pop in terms of popularity. While Rajeev composed and sung Innu Yakka Baralilla, Pradyumna Narahalli wrote the lyrics for it. "Though it's inspired from a folk song, we have only used a single phrase in Innu Yakka Baralilla, everything else are original lyrics by Pradyumna. I believe recreating things in a better way, not just copying it. I call it the new-age folk," says Rajeev.

With an aim to make Indian folk music a worldwide phenomenon, Rajeev hopes that it manifests into an exclusive genre. Her next song will be a Punjabi song, Laung Vacha.

FIT BIT

URDHVA HASTASANA
(UPWARD SALUTE POSE)

It is a standing pose that refreshes the entire body by boosting energy levels. Whether you are a trained yogi, an aspirant or even a novice, anyone can perform this pose on a daily basis. This gentle stretch re-energises the body.

STEPS

- Stand in Tadasana (Mountain Pose), keeping the feet 10 cm apart and arms by the sides.
- Equally distribute the weight on both feet and relax the arms, neck, and shoulders.
- Press your feet into the ground. Inhale and raise your arms above your shoulders and head, bending backward.
- Join the palms together overhead in a prayer position. Draw the shin bones and knee caps upward and while keeping the thighs engaged.
- Inhale further and deepen the stretch by engaging the core muscles and stretching the neck muscles to look towards the raised hands.
- Hold the stretch for about 8-10 breaths and then sweep the arms back to the sides while exhaling.
- This completes one round of Urdhva Hastasana. Practise it for about 10 rounds and then relax.

BENEFITS

- Enhances the stretch on the entire body.
- Aids in curing anxiety and stress.
- Aids in curing asthma and other lung disorders.
- It has remedial effects on relieving the sciatica pain.
- Helps in curing backache.
- Anyone suffering from an upset stomach or dyspepsia must try this asana.
- Stretches the entire spine, relaxes the shoulders and tones the body.
- Expansion of several muscles rectifies any postural deformity
- Stretches the rectus abdominal muscles and intestines.
- Improves the overall efficiency of the digestive system.
- Expands the chest which enhances the lung capacity.
- Facilitates diaphragmatic breathing, maintaining a healthy respiratory system.
- Entire muscular system experiences stretching.
- Expansion of muscles clears up the muscular congestion, regulating proper blood supply throughout the body.

LIMITATIONS

People who have sprain in and around the shoulders and neck, avoid this.

Ensure to master the alignments of basic Tadasana before trying this pose.

While lengthening the spine, pull the pubic bone towards the navel to prevent injury in the lumbar spine and rib cage.

Ensuring children's health during the monsoon season

EXPRESS FEATURES

As school season peaks, parents are faced with the task of ensuring their children's health during the monsoon season. This season brings its own set of health issues, including colds, flus, eye and ear infections, lower respiratory infections, and stomach bugs.

To protect children from these infectious illnesses, Dr Sushanth Shivaswamy, a consultant neonatologist and paediatrician at Kinder Hospital, emphasises the importance of preventive measures in safeguarding children's well-being and advises parents to teach and encourage good hand washing practices. Regular and thorough handwashing before and after mealtime, toilet use, and outdoor activities is crucial.

In addition to personal hygiene, maintaining a clean environment is essential. Schools should regularly clean and disinfect classroom materials and surfaces to minimise the spread of germs. Daily reminders to children about preventing the spread of germs and illnesses can reinforce good habits.

Dr Shivaswamy also highlights the importance of a healthy diet in boosting children's immunity. Parents should ensure their children have a well-rounded diet that includes fruits, vegetables, greens, milk products or meat, and some dry fruits daily. It is equally important to keep sick children at home to prevent the spread of illness to others.

Parents should communicate with the school and encourage adherence to sick child policies. Ensuring routine vaccinations are up to date is crucial, and children under five or with recurrent infections should consider getting the annual flu shot before school reopening.

By following these simple precautions, parents can help their children stay healthy and happy during the school days and the monsoon season. Prevention is key, so it is important to be proactive and take necessary steps to protect children's health.

Here are lesser-known herbal remedies and traditional therapies that can boost immunity during the monsoons

GOING NATIVE

DR NARENDRA SHETTY

HERBS are used in treating illness and have their roots in an ancient holistic healing tradition that originated in Asia more than 3,000 years ago. Herbal medicines have shown an effect on cytokine secretion, histamine release, immunoglobulin secretion and class switching, cellular coreceptor expression, lymphocyte proliferation, and cytotoxic activity.

1 Shleshmaatakas leaf, fruit, and bark are distributed in temperate and tropical zones of Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia, and America and have been used in folk medicine for the treatment of rheumatism, painful menstruation, and gastric ulcers because of its components like alpha amyrin which acts as anti-inflammatory, anti-microbial.

2 Shatavari is an important medicinal plant of tropical and subtropical India, its roots consist of saponins, sitosterol so it's of therapeutic interest due to its role as an immunomodulant, galactagogue, adaptogen, antitussive, anticarcinogen, antioxidant, and antidiarrheal and as a general tonic.

3 Paarijaata Actinidi family Oleaceae, is found in South Asia. Major alkaloids like quino-linolids have been isolated from its leaves, seeds, and fruits and are widely used to treat various rheumatism and other chronic disorders.

4 Atibala is used because of its chemical composition like flavonoids, triterpenoids, and sapogenins, which make it a stronger diuretic, as well as a heart tonic, antifungal, and antibacterial agent.

5 Brahmi is found throughout India. Its leaves are mainly used because of its components like triterpenoid, and saponins which act as immunomodulatory.

6 Chamomile is present across most of India. Its flowers consist of terpenoids and flavonoids which have antioxidant, and anti-inflammatory properties.

7 Saptaparna is distributed throughout the sub-Himalayan belt, West Bengal, UP, Bihar, and Southeast Asia. It is known to be a powerful medicinal plant that has been studied well for the bio-active principles present in the leaf, stem, and root barks. It has been used traditionally as folk remedies for the treatment of many diseases including diarrhea, dysentery, and malaria.

8 Triphala is proven to significantly prevent elevation of IL-4 levels as well as correct decreased IL-2 and IFN levels because of the active compounds present in them like gallic acid, chebulagic acid, ellagic acid, flavonoids, tannins, and phenols, which is responsible for its effective immunostimulatory and immunosuppressant properties making it a strong adversary as a plant-based immunomodulator.

9 Guduchi contains many constituents such as alkaloids, steroids, glycosides, and polysaccharides, It has been shown to possess antidiabetic, antioxidant, antihepatotoxic, and immunomodulatory properties.

10 Ashwagandha is predominantly seen in India and its components like anolide glycosides exert their immunomodulatory action by mobilising and activating macrophages and inducing proliferation in murine splenocytes.

11 Licorice is a common herb that has been used for centuries. The roots and rhizomes are the main medicinal parts of herb. It contains more than 20 triterpenoids and nearly 300 flavonoids. Studies have revealed many pharmacological properties of licorice, such as being antiviral, anti-inflammatory, antitumor, antimicrobial, and many more.

'THERE IS NOTHING TOO DIFFICULT ABOUT BEING AN ACTOR AS LONG AS WE ENJOY THE EXPERIENCE'

Sughosh

CE FEATURES

WITH Aparoopa, director Mahesh Babu, introduces two fresh actors to the film industry. Sughosh, who had a minor role in Athiratha, is set to play the hero, while Hrithika Srinivas, the niece of actor Ammani, is making her debut.

Bankrolled by Mahesh, under the Suggi Cinemas banner, Aparoopa has cinematography by Suryakanth and music by Prajwal Pai. Along with the newcomers, Aparoopa also stars Ashok, Avinash, Aruna Balraj and Dinesh Mangaluru.

The two young talents, in conversation with CE, ahead of the film's release on July 14, discuss their love for cinema, and their future prospects.

Sughosh, a mechanical engineer, grew up in a creatively inclined family involved in art and culture, which inspired him to pursue acting. "During my engineering days, I became strongly convinced that no matter what happens, cinema is my ultimate goal," says Sughosh, whose main inspiration is Puneeth Rajkumar, whom he affectionately addresses as Appu.

"The director is known for introducing newcomers. I got connected to him through my father's colleague. Being launched by him felt like attending a school, and it is the perfect foundation of my career. This family drama with liberal doses of romance is a perfect opportunity for a newcomer, especially without a film background," says Sughosh. adding, "In this film, I have three different looks, and the character allows me to showcase my skills in dance, emotions, and intense stunts too."

Sughosh is confident he can compete with his peers, and he has all the requisites of being an actor. "The journey ahead is long, but I'm determined to stay and succeed. Although I have big plans, I want to stay focused on Aparoopa currently, says Sughosh who signs off stating, "There is nothing too difficult about being an actor as long as we enjoy the experience."

'Aparoopa was not an easy subject'

HRITHIKA Srinivas has always been familiar with the world of cinema, thanks to her aunt, Ammani. Having observed her aunt's dedication, and witnessing the effects of stardom, Hrithika knew the path she wanted to take in her career. In fact, she was a child artiste in a few Tamil films and has been involved in various commercials, which helped her gain exposure and confidence in facing the camera. "It was my aunt who told me about director Mahesh Babu, who is known for introducing newcomers. I'm glad to be getting the right launch pad."

Regarding Aparoopa, Hrithika acknowledges that it was not an easy subject but it was definitely interesting. "I trusted the director's vision, and thoroughly enjoyed working on the film. It was more of a fun place rather than seeing it as a daunting task," she says.

She reveals that there are ongoing discussions for a few projects, but Aparoopa will always hold a special place in her heart. "I'm confident that Aparoopa will resonate with the audience as well." she signs off.

Ritwvik Mathad

CE FEATURES

KANNADA film industry is seeing a major influx of new talent and fresh ideas, and following this momentum, is a new movie titled Utsav. Arun Surya, who previously served as an assistant and co-director to various renowned filmmakers, including Nagendra Aras, is making his directorial debut with the project.

Ritvvik Mathad, known for his role in the popular TV series Ginirama, plays the lead in Utsav. Purvi Joshi, who has previously worked in Face to Pace, plays the female lead. The cast also includes Nagendra Aras and Prakash Tumminad.

Usha Srinivasa has produced this festival-themed movie, in collaboration with Prem Katha Handara, under Arasa Productions.

Utsav's background score is composed by lyricist Jayant Kaykini, with Eminal Mohammed handling the songs. The cinematography is handled by Gautham Manu, while Shivraj Meho takes charge of the editing. The shooting for the festival sequences took place in Manali and Goa, and the film is now in the post-production stage.

'MESSAGES ARE GOOD FOR WHATSAPP STATUSES, NOT FOR CINEMA'

...says actor Kiran Raj, reflecting on his image makeover and his journey towards becoming a mass hero with his upcoming film, Ronny

CE FEATURES

KIRAN Raj, who transitioned from TV serials to the big screen, made sure to shed his boy-next-door image too. The result of this transformation can be seen in the recently released teaser of his upcoming film, Ronny.

Directed by Gurutej Shetty, the gangster drama is billed to be a mass entertainer with high-octane action sequences.

Explaining his reason for the image makeover for Ronny, Kiran Raj says, "Before Kannadati, I was part of a few other serials like Kinnari, Chandramukhi, and also starred in Hindi serials. However, I was determined to enter the film industry. Since I am from a non-film background, I needed that space, which I found through television. It was the best platform for me to prove myself to the audience and then make my way into mainstream cinema. And here I am to stay."

While he did enjoy a successful stint in the small screen, Kiran realised that movies are a different ball game altogether. "Serials are easily accessible to everyone, but cinema needs to bring audiences from the comfort of their homes to the theatre. Initially, with my films like Buddies and Jeevnane Natka Samy, which were message-oriented films, I received good responses from the audience. However, at one point, I understood that messages are good for WhatsApp statuses, and not for cinema. I don't mean that there should be no message in films, but they should be presented as entertainers," he says.

Kiran believes that the process of making a film today goes beyond just production and release. Right from devising the right strategies to sell the satellite, dubbing, digital, and audio rights, to how a film is packaged with the right ingredients, there has been a marked difference in the way films are perceived. "If I want to establish myself in this scenario, I must ensure that I bring profit to the producers.They will only consider me if I showcase the right skills. If I do the same things I did in serials, why would the audience pay to watch me on the big screen when they can see the same for free at home?" he questions.

Kiran admits he was comfortable with television and knew his future was secure in the medium, but it wasn't what he truly desired. "I always dreamt of being an actor and I want to enjoy every aspect of this journey, learn and unlearn, and constantly update myself rather than just selling what I have." Ronny, currently in post-production, is produced by Chandrakanth Poojary and Umesh Hegde under the Star Creations banner and has Manikanth Kadri scoring the music. The cast includes Yash Shetty, Dharmanna, Ravishankar, B Suresh, and Ugramm Ravi, and others.

Madhura Kavya locks release date

CE FEATURES

AYURVEDA doctor-turned-filmmaker Madhusudan is awaiting the release of his debut, Madhura Kavya, which has him essay multiple roles of a screenwriter and director.The film is set to hit screens on July 21.

"Madhura Kavya serves as a socially relevant film driven by genuine intentions," says the director, whose film's trailer was recently launched by veteran actor Devaraj, and praised the central conceit of the film, which revolves around allopathy and ayurveda. "The film emphasises the healing power of nutritious food and the exploitation of lives for profit. It also reveals the suppression of traditional healers by allopathic doctors," states Madhusudan, who is backing the film under his Vikyath Creations banner. The film features music by Sathish Sharma.

Awesome action, decent drama, and a top-notch Tom Cruise

AVINASH RAMACHANDRAN

When Tom Cruise brought Ethan Hunt alive on the big screen for the first time, it was a purely personal case. He was framed as a killer, and he was running against time to clear his name. Since then, it has always been about thwarting a megalomaniac with global domination ambitions. It is no different in the seventh installment of the blockbuster spy franchise. However, this time around, it is not just a syndicate or rogue network or any other organisation fronted by people with nefarious plans. This time Ethan Hunt and Co are against a sentient AI, and things are more bombastic than before.

MISSION IMPOSSIBLE: DEAD RECKONING
Director: Christopher McQuarrie
Cast: Tom Cruise, Rebecca Ferguson, Simon Pegg, Hayley Atwell, Esai Morales

Dead Reckoning has one of the best cold opens in the Mission Impossible franchise. THere's a Russian submarine housing a weaponised artificial intelligence. There is a manipulation involving electronic devices, and I was sure it was the introduction scene of Hunt. However, director Christopher McQuarrie and his writing team clearly had other plans, and it sets up the intensity of the antagonist to a chilling effect. In contrast, Hunt just steps out of the shadows to receive the package that gives him THE 'choice.' He is now a veteran of the IMF, and it is interesting to see the film set the tone about him becoming a mentor of sorts. This is seen once again in his equation with an enterprising thief Grace (Hayley Atwell), who is Hunt's new ally in his never-ending saga of saving the world, one mission at a time. Of course, the usual suspects like Benji (Simon Pegg), Luther (Ving Rhames), Ilsa Faust (Rebecca Ferguson) are back too, and have at least one solid stretch to establish their importance in the franchise. The usual banter between Benji and Luther continues to be funny, and this time around, it is poignant too. Even with Ilsa and her equation with the IMF trio is beautifully showcased in this instalment. In fact, seeing old faces return, and newer faces making such a strong presence, there is a sense of ominousness pervading through the entire film.

This pall of gloom is spread throughout the narrative, and in fact, the action sequences are a welcome detour from the sense of dread that can otherwise be felt in the film. Is it because the antagonist is all-powerful? Is it because of the rumours that Dead Reckoning might be the last time we see Tom Cruise as Hunt (Yes, they denied it... but....)? But this narrative structure helps in grounding the franchise and giving it an overwhelming sense of vulnerability. Of course, we know that Hunt would swoop in to save the day even if he is jumping off a cliff to reach a train travelling at full speed. We do know that he would zoom past the villains driving in military grade bulletproof SUVs even if he is just in a Fiat 500, and is handcuffed to the steering wheel. But after a point, in Dead Reckoning, the stunt sequences feel like fillers in a drama about an ageing spy, who can still run like the wind.

Considering the film is a two-parter, the first film is essentially a build up for the showdown between Hunt and the sentient force. This also results in some stretches not really pumping in the adrenaline that we have begun to expect from this franchise. While the portentous narrative does work in building the mood of the film, the payoffs aren't always rewarding. The buildups and elevation too are a bit too much on the nose even for someone like Hunt. Make no mistake, the action set pieces are gorgeously orchestrated, and makes you wonder how Cruise and Co continue to pull this off with so much efficiency and consistency. However, there is a lot of tell, and less of show when it comes to the narrative that acts as a placeholder (probably) for all hell to break loose in the second part.

Incidentally, the person sitting next to yours truly in the screening was a precocious young kid, who was probably seeing his first Mission Impossible film. As Tom Cruise's Hunt made his way around the world in bikes, cars, trains, and narrowly missed certain death in every single occasion, the kid was audibly gasping, and was awestruck by the sheer incredulity of it all. Well, it is clear... Tom Cruise is our Last Action Hero, and every moment that he tries to walk, run, jump, dive, fall, and fly is a moment to cherish. In Dead Reckoning: Part One, Cruise gives it his all as Ethan Hunt, just like he always does. I repeat... Tom Cruise is our Last Action Hero, and we are not sure how many more such films can the man wring out of his broken bones, and tired muscles. He is all heart, and as he has often shown through his films, including Mission Impossible: Dead Reckoning, that is more than enough.
